Parking lot, Route 38 projects

Legislators score major agreement with MBTA

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN
WILMINGTON - How do you spell relief?

Traffic relief, that is. The community of Wilmington has scored a major victory in its push for traffic mitigation near the upcoming MBTA parking lot on Route 38.

Better yet, the project to resurface an adjacent stretch of Route 38 has been revived. The Route 38 Project was postponed a few years ago, only to see its funding in the time since go the way of the Big Dig in Boston.

The Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority (MBTA) has agreed that a fourth lane is needed on Route 38 to combat the inevitable traffic headaches that have been projected to build between now and the year 2010. Initially, the MBTA opposed the construction of such an additional lane because doing so would subtract from the number of parking spaces that could be built into the T station parking lot that it is building. Indeed, under this new agreement, the anticipated number of spaces in the upcoming lot will be 196, down from the 224 spaces that were originally planned.

On Friday, July 27, Representative James Miceli and Senator Bruce Tarr met in the Massachusetts Highway Executive Office of Transportation in Boston. The two legislators met with officials from the MBTA and the Massachusetts Highway Department (MHD) and discussed what should be done to alleviate all traffic and construction concerns surrounding the project.

As articulated in a letter from the Executive Office of Transportation and Construction to Representative Miceli and Senator Tarr, the following commitments have been made:

- The MBTA station parking lot project and the project to resurface Route 38 have been combined as one project. The MBTA anticipates that bidding on said project is slated to take place in October. Construction will soon follow, most likely in the spring.

- The new combined project will include a commuter rail station and improvements to Route 38, as both have been outlined by Faye, Spofford & Thorndike, the official consultant for the Town of Wilmington.

- The MBTA and the MHD will work with the Town of Wilmington to finalize all aspects of the project.

- In September, the MBTA will finally demolish all remaining buildings currently situated where the parking facility is to be built.

Representative Miceli and Senator Tarr, both of whom had been urged by the Board of Selectmen to persuade the MBTA to cooperate fully on the issue of traffic mitigation, are elated with the agreement.

"We feel we've won on all accounts," says Senator Tarr. "This wholeheartedly complies with the recommendations set forth by the town's consultant. We did not have to compromise anything."

Says Representative Miceli, "We're very excited. This agreement meets the needs of the town. It is the culmination of a lot of hard work."

Representative Miceli and Senator Tarr both thanked Governor Paul Cellucci for the contributions that he made to the town officials' and legislators' collective efforts.

"The governor helped get the money to make this work," says Representative Miceli.

Representative Miceli and Senator Tarr are also pleased to report that the 26 parking spaces are all that will need to be sacrificed as part of Friday's agreement.

"We're not sacrificing any of the amenities," says Representative Miceli. "For quite some time now, people have been looking at an eye sore when they drive through that intersection. When this parking lot is done, the trees and the shrubs and the benches will remain."

While legislators are elated, some town officials are feeling less than convinced that Friday's across-the-board agreement is as compliant with the town as they would require.

Selectman Robert J. Cain has been the most vocal member on the Board of Selectmen in his opposition to the MBTA parking lot and the manner with which the Authority has pressed forward nonetheless. Cain is "disappointed" that locally elected officials such as himself and others were not invited to Friday's breakthrough meeting. In fact, at press time the only knowledge Cain had about the agreement had come from the reporters of local newspapers.

"This is something that we're becoming accustomed to," says Cain with a hint of disapproval. "Information seems as though it is being given to the newspapers first, instead of town officials who are directly involved in such matters."

Cain says that neither officials from the MBTA or Representative Miceli or Senator Tarr have contacted him or anyone at the Town Hall to inform them about the apparent good news.

Cain, however, was able to receive a faxed copy of the letter that was sent to Senator Tarr and Representative Miceli by the Executive Office of Transportation and Construction.

New police chief

Exam scores make Deputy Chief Nally a front runner

By FRANK AMATO

WILMINGTON - The results are in.

With the impending retirement of Wilmington Police Chief Bobby Stewart, seven members of the department have stepped up to the plate in hopes of filling his shoes.

The chief's exam, a civil service process open only to department members, found Deputy Police Chief Bernard Nally at the top of the order.

In the lineup were: Nally, who scored a 90, followed by Lt. Robert Spencer, and Sgt. Chris Neville, each with an 86. Sgt. Mike Begonis scored an 85, with Lt. Robert Richter and Sgt. Joseph Desmond with 84 each. Sgt. Dave McCue Sr. finished the lineup with a 76.

The scores, which are comprised of a written exam, coupled with rank and experience can be appealed within 17 days to the civil service commission, are only a guide to an appointment as chief.

The board of selectmen makes the final decision with the recommendation of the Town Manager Michael Caira.

Selectman Rooney enters not guilty plea to N.H. charges

By FRANK J. AMATO

LACONIA, NH - Wilmington Selectman Jim Rooney, being represented by his lawyer plead not guilty on his behalf at his arraignment Thursday, July 27th to three misdemeanor charges.

According to the New Hampshire Marine Patrol Sergeant Stephen Kace, James J. Rooney, 58, Wilmington, MA is charged with driving his motor boat while intoxicated (DWI). The incident occurred on Lake Winnepesaukee, in New Hampshire.

In addition to DWI, Rooney was also charged with refusing to submit to a chemical test to determine the level of alcohol in his blood, and failure to have required lights on his boat after sunset. All charges are misdemeanors in New Hampshire.

If convicted on the DWI charge, Rooney could lose his right to operate a motor boat for

Limo company woes continue

Driver skips day in court

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - When a group of teenagers girls decided not to take their rented limousine home to Medford after the 'N Sync concert in Foxboro on the night of Saturday, July 22, it was a case of excellent judgment.

The driver, an employee of Lynette's Limousine Service at 458 Main Street in Wilmington, was allegedly drunk.

Forty-one-year-old John S. Gilbert, of Peabody, made an arrangement with the young concertgoers that seemed simple enough. Gilbert was to meet the eight teenagers in the parking lot of Spaghetti Eddie's Restaurant on Route One in Foxboro after the concert was finished.

When Gilbert arrived at the lot in his limousine, the girls suspected that he was intoxicated. The girls declined to get into the limousine with Gilbert at the wheel. Gilbert gave the girls a business card and told them to give him a call when they were ready to be taken back to Medford.

Instead, the girls called the police, notifying authorities that a limousine being driven by a possibly drunk driver was heading down Route One.

State Troopers Gary Cedarquist and Edward LaVoie responded to the restaurant's parking lot, spoke with the girls, and continued south down Route One to locate the limousine.

Troopers Cedarquist and LaVoie located Gilbert on Route One in Wrentham, pulled him over, and placed him under arrest. Gilbert was given three charges: operating a vehicle while under the influence of alcohol; drinking alcohol while driving;

Shooting suspect in court on unrelated charges

By FRANK J. AMATO

WILMINGTON Police are continuing to pursue the investigation into the shooting of John Sheehan, 39, Wilmington, a manager for Lynette's Limousine Service, 458 Main Street, Wilmington, by an intruder who police believe they know.

The shooting happened last December. The intruder demanded cash from the safe. As Sheehan was complying, the suspect shot him, twice in the leg, and once in the abdomen. The suspect was reported to have used a silver colored handgun.

The shooting, which was filmed by security cameras positioned at various locations throughout the property, indicated the intruder had let himself into the building using a code to enter the building about 45 minutes prior to Sheehan's arrival for work about 8:30 a.m.

The suspect, whom police will not name, has been indicted on unrelated charges, police sources have indicated.

Police describe the suspect as 5'9" wearing blue jeans, blue hooded sweatshirt, and a leather jacket. The suspect was also carrying a duffel bag of some sort.

Police are currently attempting to enhance the security tape to provide a clearer image of the suspect.

"We are aggressively pursuing many avenues," said Wilmington Police Lt. Robert Spencer.

The investigation is under the direction of Wilmington Inspector Pat King.

Anyone with information that could be helpful is asked to contact Inspectors King at 657-7149 or 658-5071.

Doug Sears reappointed to Tewksbury Hospital board

TEWKSBURY - Just before heading to the GOP Convention in Philadelphia, Governor A. Paul Cellucci reappointed Tewksbury Attorney Doug Sears to the Tewksbury Hospital Board until June 26, 2003. "Your experience and sound judgment have contributed substantially to the Board throughout your tenure," Doug Sears is active in many other capacities in Tewksbury. He currently serves as a member of the Historical Society, Historic Commission, Tewksbury School Committee, and as chairman of the Tewksbury Republican Town Committee. "I look forward to helping provide quality care to patient and to helping the trustees determine the most appropriate uses for the land not needed for running the hospital," Sears told the Town Crier.

Lt. David Bennett graduates Air Force Academy

WILMINGTON - David Bennett, son of Catherine M. and Dean R. Bennett of Jacobs Road, Wilmington and a 1996 graduate of Wilmington High School, has graduated from the U.S. Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs and has been commissioned a second lieutenant. The cadet is one of 927 classmates of the academy's Class of 2000.

The graduate served as an academy cadet senior officer who provided leadership, motivation and direction for the cadet wing and demonstrated effective officership in support of unit mission objectives.

The new lieutenants go on to serve as pilots, navigators, engineers, maintenance officers, professionals in various technical fields, and some attend medical or graduate school with special scholarships, while others go directly to non-rated Air Force wide assignments.

TAX HELPS FOR THE DISABLED

Tax law offers some help for the disabled, most especially regarding tax-free income and special deductions.

If you pay the premiums, either for your own disability policy or a company-sponsored one, the benefits are tax free. Other payments that are tax free are those from a state mandated disability policy, from the Department of Veteran's Affairs, Worker's Compensation payments related to disabilities, damages for physical injury or illness, payments on a no-fault car insurance policy and several others. But Social Security disability payments are taxed like any other Social Security benefits.

Medical expenses related to the disability are deductible to the extent that they exceed 7.5 percent of adjusted gross income, but there are some limitations, on home improvement, for instance. Training at special schools is deductible, too, including travel costs. Ask us about tax credits and penalty relief as well.

You'll get the answers to your tax questions at

America's priorities ignored in the Tax Cut Debate

by SENATOR
EDWARD M. KENNEDY

In the span of just four days in July, Republican Senators passed tax breaks overwhelmingly targeted for the wealthy that will cost the U.S. Treasury $1.5 trillion over the next 20 years. In forcing these tax cuts through the House and Senate with a minimum of debate and a maximum of partnership, the GOP majority turned its back on higher priorities that have a far greater claim on these enormous resources. It makes no sense to give away the treasury and jeopardize urgently needed investments such as preserving social security, providing prescription drug coverage for senior citizens under Medicare, and improving the nation's schools.

Fortunately, America has a President who will veto this inequitable tax breaks and insist that the nation's highest priorities must be met first.

Democrats in Congress are not opposed to tax relief. But we feel strongly that the relief must be fairly targeted to low income families and not earmarked disproportionately for the wealthiest individuals and corporations in our society. The goals of the two GOP bills - relief from the estate tax and from the marriage penalty in the tax laws - could easily have been achieved in a responsible way, preserving funds for other needed investments. But the Republican Congress refused to consider these eminently reasonable compromises.

The GOP tax breaks for the wealthy are scandalous, given the extraordinary need for additional resources for major social programs throughout the country. Senior citizens face a crisis today. The extraordinary promise of fuller and healthier lives offered by new discoveries in medicine is often beyond their reach. They need help to afford the miracle drugs that are increasingly available. Students, too, face a crisis. In schools across the country, they are often forced to learn in over-crowded classrooms and crumbling facilities. Teachers go without adequate training. Violence is a constant threat. Forty-four million Americans face a crisis too, because they cannot afford the soaring cost of health insurance, and their employers won't provide it.

Today, the booming economy is helping many Americans. But those who work day after day at the minimum wage are falling farther and farther behind. A recent study by the pro-business Conference Board found that the number of working poor is actually increasing, in spite of the record prosperity. The number of working poor families who seek emergency help in soup kitchens and food pantries across the nation far surpasses the ability of agencies to meet their needs.

The cost of rental housing is skyrocketing in most cities because of the economic boom. But the wages of millions of families who need that housing have failed to keep pace.

Priorities like these cry out for action. But the tax breaks sought by the Republican Congress ignore them all. I welcome President Clinton's pledge to veto these tax break monstrosities, and I am confident that the American people will elect a President in November who will veto them as well.

State Senator Tarr sponsored Senate passes new cluster zoning bill

BOSTON - The senate last week passed legislation to provide communities with an important zoning tool in the form of cluster developments, according to Senate Assistant Minority Whip Bruce Tarr (R-Gloucester). Tarr, who had filed two pieces of legislation which evolved with others into H 4435, said that "those communities which choose to accept these provisions would be able to use them to strike an important balance between meeting the growing demand for housing and maintaining the quantum of open space necessary to the character and quality of life of a city or town."

Specifically, the bill would provide those communities who so choose by local option to adopt zoning ordinances and bylaws to authorize cluster developments by right, through the subdivision control process. Such developments would not increase the number of units on a particular parcel of land, but would allow them to be reconfigured in greater clusters of density.

The remaining land would then be dedicated to open space through deed restrictions, conveyance to the municipality or similar means.

Although such developments are now technically possible, they require a special permit rather than a subdivision permit. This has been widely viewed as a deterrent since the special permit process can be time consuming, costly and highly discretionary. "Cities and towns seeking to maximize open space in residential areas through cluster zoning could remove a significant barrier as a result of H 4435," said Tarr.

The bill, sponsored by Representatives Douglas Petersen (D-Marblehead) and John Stasik (D-Framingham), has also enjoyed broad support from groups such as the Massachusetts Audubon Society and the Home Builder's Association of Massachusetts, Inc.

IT'S ABOUT REMEMBERING, SON. -REMEMBERING ALL THOSE LOVED ONES BEFORE US WHO GAVE OF THEIR LIVES TO MAKE THE WORLD A BETTER PLACE TO CALL "HOME". -SOME MADE THAT SACRIFICE ON THE BATTLEFIELD... WHILE OTHERS GAVE ALL THEY HAD TO PROTECT US FROM CRIME AND CATASTROPHE. YET, MANY MADE THE WORLD BETTER SIMPLY BY THEIR EXISTENCE... MOMS AND DADS, AUNTS AND UNCLES... WHO WORKED HONESTLY AND TIRELESSLY... TO CARE FOR YOU AND I - AND GIVE US "THE RIGHT STUFF" TO FOLLOW - IN THEIR GIANT FOOTSTEPS!

Rain, heartfelt words deepen Korean War ceremony

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN
WILMINGTON - A forgotten war, remembered.

On the morning of Thursday, July 27, veterans and citizens gathered at Wilmington Town Common to honor the men who fought for freedom and lost their lives in the war that, unfortunately, tends to be eclipsed in our memories by the global-scale grandiosity of World War II and the heartbreaking tragedy of Vietnam.

It was the soldiers of the Korean War for whom men and women met to honor last Thursday. The ceremony, which was attended by veterans and town officials and legislators and loved ones, unfolded soberly and respectfully underneath a yellow-and-white-striped tent, which provided much needed dryness amidst the heavy, cool rain that had been falling since the night before. Chaplain Ed Williams voiced opening and closing prayers. Poems were recited and words of gratitude were expressed. Two band students from Wilmington High School, Michel Lemos and Johnny Jamieson, played "Taps."

Representative James Miceli, who was in high school when the Korean War raged in the 1950s, spoke of the days when he was a student who was under the impression that the conflict was merely a police action.

"I can remember my teacher telling our class that the Korean War was a police action," Miceli told the veterans in the crowd. "Little did I know, I learned a few years later about how many lives were lost and how many folks were injured. All of you left your homes, your families. This town should never forget what you have done for us, and neither should the Commonwealth and, in fact, the whole country. Thank you for the sacrifices that you made."

Michael Newhouse, who is the Chairman of the Board of Selectmen, represented a generation much younger than the one that put their country before themselves in the Korean War. Newhouse, who had woken up that morning concerned that the heavy rain would sap attendance at the ceremony, spoke poetically of the value that he discovered in the downpour that was engulfing the commemoration.

"I thought that there would be a lousy turnout because of the rain," began Newhouse. "Then I thought that for someone like myself, who was not called to serve, it is appropriate that I experience such an inconvenience in honor of the men and women who did serve."

Newhouse said that such dreary, less-than-perfect weather inspired him to reflect on how lucky he is to live in a country of men and women who have fought for freedom and created more freedom around the world.

Concluded Newhouse, "So today, I, as one of the beneficiaries of your service, on behalf of my generation, would like to thank you for all that you sacrificed."

The most powerful moment of the brief ceremony arrived when Al Fiorenza spoke to the crowd. Fiorenza, who is recognized as one of the "Chosin Few" who fought the bloody battle at the Chosin River in Korea, received a Silver Star for Bravery for his courageous efforts in the war.

Fiorenza, who served in the United States Army, was overwhelmed with emotion as he spoke from the heart about the gratitude for the men and women who helped him and his servicemen in the Korean War. Most notably, Fiorenza paid tribute to the men of the United States Marines who joined him in his mission.

"To the Marines, what a wonderful bunch of guys," Fiorenza said, his voice choked with emotion and his eyes wet with tears. "They're my heroes."

As noted by veteran Thomas Marden, who was at the ceremony to represent the Korean War Veterans Association, it was an honor and a case of good fortune to have Fiorenza in attendance at the gathering because he had recently suffered a stroke.

At one point in the ceremony, Thomas Travaglia, the Commander of the local chapter of the VFW and the Chairman of the Memorial Day Committee, laid a wreath at the War Memorial that was dedicated at the Common last November. Travaglia was joined by Joseph Hartka and Elliott Walsh. The men ventured out into the rain from under the tent and approached the memorial that stands before the flag pole. They laid the wreath below the half-mast American flag, which was soaked and wrapped around its pole.

It was a poem read by Marden that directed the ceremony from its present-day gratitude to the vivid memories of what it was like to be on the front lines in the Korean War.

"Many years have passed since these wars were fought," Marden began to cite. "May we all remember what they were fighting for."

Continued Marden, "Ask any old vet, there are stories to tell; about the fighting and dying, and about how war is hell."

The men at this ceremony were the ones who went into the hell of war, fought, and came home with the bells of freedom ringing proudly in their ears. The men they honored during the moving, respectful ceremony on the Town Common were the ones who also went into the hell of war, who also fought, but did not return to enjoy the freedom that they helped preserve.

Letter to the Editor

Tiny Tots program earns thanks from Mom

Dear Editor:
I wanted to write and express my admiration for the Tiny Tots Recreation Summer Program. I have two children who attend the second session and they both have had a great time. Every day consisted of a different and interesting curriculum and they brought home a craft project almost every day. The staff is wonderfully creative and attentive to the individual needs of the children. So often, the staff of such programs as this only hear criticisms. I feel that it is important that these extraordinary people be recognized for their achievements in a public forum. They are truly entitled to our community's thanks and gratitude.

Sincerely,
Susan J. Grabar

How pure is bottled water?

Dear Editor:
How pure is bottled water? In an article on this subject, it was found that bottled water is not exactly as advertised. First, the price is far, far higher than your tap water, almost 1000 times as expensive per gallon as tap water. Another thing was the bacterial content was not analyzed. It was not even tested as your town water is. Fluoridation is not added to protect your children's teeth.

I have been drinking Wilmington water for over 70 years and I still have some of the teeth I was born with. The few I have, I brush after each meal when I can get my arm that high.

Reginald Bishop, Sr.

Post Office installs new 'proof of delivery system'

TEWKSBURY/WILMINGTON - Area postmasters announced a new "Signature Capture" process is now available at U.S. Post Offices nationwide.

The July 23 activation of this new process will allow the U.S. Postal Service to file delivery records electronically, much as any other communication business does," according to Postmaster James R. Quinn, Wilmington, and Postmaster Kathleen M. Johnson, Tewksbury.

This improvement in managing delivery records will provide opportunities to better meet customer needs for proof of delivery services, fraud detection, and injury claim processing," they said.

The postmasters said, "We can look up a delivery record from an intranet site in seconds with this new process, greatly benefiting mailers looking for delivery information."

They explained that scanners will be used to link an article number from a mailpiece, such as Express Mail, certified or insured, to a unique number on a delivery receipt signed by the recipient of the mailpiece. This information is stored in a national database, along with the signature information captured when the signed delivery receipt is optically signed after delivery is complete.

They said the new process is a "simple, yet effective way of managing more than 400 million delivery records on a yearly basis."

Lahey Clinic honors Tewksbury's Bob Ritchie

TEWKSBURY - Bob Ritchie of Tewksbury was among the 89 individuals honored by Lahey Clinic at its annual Volunteer Recognition dinner, held recently at the Bedford Renaissance Hotel in Bedford. Ritchie was awarded an "Hour Pin" for his dedicated service to Lahey Clinic. The event, which capped of National Volunteer Week, was attended by more than 180 volunteers, supervisors, colleagues and family members affiliated with Lahey Clinic.

In thanking the volunteers, Mary

Iodice, manager of Volunteer and Community Services at Lahey, said that the Lahey Clinic community "could not ask for a more caring group of dedicated volunteers."

Lahey Clinic currently has approximately 230 volunteers. The volunteer program, managed by Mary Iodice, has been an integral part of Lahey Clinic for seven years. For information about how to become a Lahey Clinic volunteer in Burlington, call the Volunteer and Community Service Department at 781-744-8803.

Widows of disabled veterans to get tax relief

BOSTON - Senate Assistant Minority Whip Bruce Tarr (R-Gloucester) has announced that the FY 2001 Conference Committee Budget, approved by the House and Senate, includes a proposal to provide consistent property tax exemptions to the surviving spouses of disabled veterans. The provision stems from legislation co-sponsored by Senator Tarr.

The Senate Post Audit and Oversight Committee released a policy brief in 1998 highlighting the fact that surviving spouses of most severely disabled Massachusetts veterans are not allowed to retain property tax exemptions that they were entitled to while the veteran was alive. After publication of the report, Senator Tarr joined a bipartisan coalition of legislators in an effort to extend consistent property tax exemptions to all surviving spouses of disabled veterans.

Under current law, spouses of paraplegic veterans or veterans classified as 100 percent disabled by the Veterans Administration may keep their exemption, while spouses of veterans who have lost limbs, become blind, or suffered a 100 percent disability can see their exemption reduced from as much as $950 to as little as $250 upon the death of their spouse. These drastic reductions in tax exemptions often occur at the same time as the surviving spouse experiences a loss in income, sending some families into serious financial hardship. Senator Tarr co-sponsored Senate Bill 1534, "An Act extending Certain Property Tax Exemptions to the Surviving Spouses of Disabled Veterans" in an attempt to rectify the inconsistencies in the law. The provision in the Conference Committee Budget would allow all surviving spouses of disabled veterans to retain their property tax exemption after the death of the veteran.

"Surviving spouses of veterans should not have their financial security threatened when they lose their spouse. This common sense measure should prevent the threat which comes from losing the property tax exemptions under present law."

The Fiscal FY 2001 Budget was enacted by both branches last week and was placed on the Governor's desk for his signature. Tarr commended Senator Cheryl Jacques (D-Needham) for her leadership on this issue.

Sept. 9 &amp; 10 at Tewksbury Hospital

2000 Homecoming plans taking shape

By CHARLOTTE COOPER
TEWKSBURY - The five long-time members of the Tewksbury Homecoming Committee and their newest member are hard at work finishing up on their Concerts on the Common series and preparing for the Festival Weekend in September.

Gayle Bolduc, Chairperson, Shayne Garman, CoChairman, Greg Tsotsi, Treasurer, Karen GarmanPage, Nancy Tsotsi and newest member John Synan, are focusing on Tewksbury's big fall event, the Festival, formerly known as Homecoming weekend.

"The committee before us call it Homecoming," Ms. Bolduc said. "We changed it this year." She said it's more a family fun festival and is scheduled for the weekend of September 9th and 10th and it has been expanding every year. The event is run on Tewksbury Hospital grounds and she praised Tewksbury Hospital for their extensive help in making the event possible.

"The Festival includes music, rides, entertainment, dancers, games, carnival rides, and crafters," Ms. Bolduc said. "The whole plan is to make the festival inexpensive so that families can enjoy it and it is coming along wonderfully."

Ms. Tsotsi said that other vendors include face painting, glass blowing, dried flowers, honey roasted cashews, Mary Kay Cosmetics, the Telephone Company, handmade gift baskets, and a storyteller, among others. She said that the craft section has grown significantly and has a wide variety of artisans.

"The Colonial encampment is coming back this year" said Ms.

Bolduc. She said that the group will entirely occupy one of the fields at Tewksbury Hospital. "It's the combined efforts of the Tewksbury Minutemen and the Wilmington Minutemen. They will live there the full weekend." She said that they dress colonial, demonstrate candle making and woodworking, pewter work, and other colonial things, completely without electricity and all modern conveniences.

In addition, Paula Street from the Oldies FM103.3 radio station will join the Festival as well as Davey the Clown and Bob Riordan, the magician. The food selection promises to be good and fun. The treats range from barbeque to beans and everything inbetween.

"We meet throughout the year, except for November and December," said Ms. Bolduc. "Our meetings are every two weeks, and in August, we meet weekly to prepare for the Festival." She said that they work on a town budget to provide free or very inexpensive entertainment at all events and that they strive to make their events enjoyable for families.

Ms. Bolduc said that they begin preparing for the events in January. They concentrate on booking the dates for their events first, then they focus on the Concerts on the Common details. Some of the group members attend band concerts in the area during the year and derive some of their concert list from those groups.

The committee strives to provide a different type of music weekly and this year they've expanded the program from six weeks to eight this year. Ms. Bolduc said that some of the bands return each year. She also said that the concerts were changed this year to Wed nights, (from Thurs), to help boost attendance, because on Thursdays they competed with the town track events. She said that attendance has increased.

"We do have Jim Sutton and his Orchestra for Easy Listening, Ed Dorazio, DJ and Impersonator, and The Reminisants & 60's Invasion, (oldies), and Rick Barron & the Quavers, (country), because they are popular with the crowd," Ms. Bolduc said. "This year we added Sweet Adeline's Chorus, Yankee Notions & Shannigans, (different types of Folk Music), Peanut Funker & Jam, (dance music), and Airtight, (music from the 60's/80's)."

"Publicizing the concerts this year is also responsible for increasing the numbers," Ms. Bolduc said. "We have dispersed concert listings through the school system in June, at the local churches, on the Town TV channel, in the newspapers, and at each concert. Attendance has ranged from 200 over 400 at the concerts so far and is increasing weekly."

She said that it is a wonderful family event. People arrive with blankets, chairs, coolers and families to enjoy the music. They have an ice cream truck at the event and the Town of Tewksbury Police Explorers requested a spot where they can sell refreshments and snacks to support their organization.

"The only problem we have is that in order to do the games and rides, we need volunteers," Ms.

Bolduc said. "We could have so many more games and things if we knew we had volunteers to help run them." She said that the volunteers have short 2 hour slots and sometimes have more fun than the participants. "That's what we work the hardest on, getting the volunteers."

She also said that she hopes the Committee will expand in numbers, too. She said that although the 5 member group does a good job, it would be much easier if the duties were divided among more members. Planning events is a huge task and more hands make lighter work.

"Budgeting is difficult because we must wait until July 1st to know what we are allotted," Ms. Bolduc said. She said that once they have the funding, they can move quickly forward with the programs. This year they received $15,300 for their programs, but with the average cost per concert of $500, amusement rides averaging $4,000 - $6,000, and staging and lighting costs another $4,000, the funding rapidly diminishes. They solicited for sponsors and received four responses. The local sponsors include Meineke Muffler, Schlott Tire, Northeast Refrigeration, and Medford Bank.

This year promises to be bigger than the last and the Town is looking forward to the bid weekend, thanks to the tireless efforts of the Homecoming Committee. If you'd like to volunteer two hours to help a wonderful family event, call Gayle Bolduc of the Homecoming Committee.

"Arrested" reporter offers inside glimpse of a detention cell

WOBURN - Being arrested is not a comfortable feeling, even when you know you are innocent of any possible crimes.

However, as Daily Times Chronicle Reporter Mia Carter now knows, the arresting officers are all business as they go about their sworn duty to protect and serve the public. The same is true of the court officers and attorneys who have their part to play in protecting the rights of the accused while making sure that the guilty pay for their crimes.

In today's Middlesex East, the second part of Carter's series on being put through the wrong end of the criminal justice system will describe her stay in the detention cell at Woburn District Court. The criminal court process, as with any court process, requires a lot of paper work. Carter's stay could not have been possible without the help of many people who made sure that her "mock arrest and trial" did not result in her name actually being put into the system and a record being formed.

In next week's edition of The Middlesex East, Carter will describe the experience of being booked into the Middlesex House of Correction in Billerica. She will also describe how she was handled by the officers under the command of Middlesex Sheriff James DiPaolo.

Please turn to "Part Two" of Carter's story on Page S1.

Middlesex Community College Business Programs to hold Information Session

BEDFORD - The Middlesex Community College Business Programs office will hold an Information Session at 6 p.m. Wednesday, August 23, at the Bedford Campus Center Cafeteria on Springs Road in Bedford. Information will be available on programs in business administration, accounting, hospital management, computer applications, business technologies, fashion and retail merchandising, the new business honors program and many other areas. Prospective students can also learn about business internships and how to earn college credit for prior work experience.

Business courses are offered days, evenings and weekends as well as over the Internet and through the Center for Self-Paced Learning Center in Bedford and Lowell. Classes begin September 6. For more information, call 1-800-818-3434.

Susan H. Muse elected Executive Vice President of Reading Co-operative Bank

READING - Susan H. Muse was recently elected Executive Vice President of Reading Co-operative Bank which has locations in Reading and Wilmington.

Muse began her career at Reading Co-operative Bank in 1978 as a teller and customer service representative, a post she held until 1981. This was followed by positions as Assistant Operations Manager (1981-1984) and Assistant Treasurer and Manager of Operations (1984-1989). She then moved into a series of senior management positions. From 1989-1993 Muse was the bank's Treasurer where, as the senior loan officer, she was responsible for loan originations and underwriting, collections, loan workouts, foreclosures and the sale of REO properties. She also worked closely with bank regulators and auditors and monitored compliance activities.

In 1993 she assumed the role of Vice President/Treasurer where she directed the daily operations of the bank, maintained fiscal controls, monitored the institution's daily cash position and invested funds. Three years later, she was elevated to Senior Vice President/Treasurer where she assisted the President in a variety of functions such as coordinating the bank's internal audit, preparing the annual budget, reporting to the Finance Committee and the Board of Directors, and serving as liaison for all regulatory examinations. As Executive Vice President, Muse will take on a role of even greater responsibility and visibility.

A graduate of Reading High School, Muse went on to study at Chandler School for Women, Mass. Bay Community College, and Fairfield University's Executive Development Program. She has been active within community organizations serving as a Director and the Secretary of the Rotary from 1993-1997. She also sat on the Board of Directors of the YMCA (1995-1996) and served as the Vice President and a Director of the Reading Library Foundation in 1996.

Legislators score major agreement with MBTA

Don't get me wrong. It's certainly a good thing. Let's hope that the results are as good as the agreement.

Chairman Michael... spoke with the same optimism when asked about the agreement.

"It's good to hear," says... "Seeing is believing," he says.

There is also pleased that... Project has been revived, as well.

"It's good to finally hear such good news," adds Newhouse. "I hope the project does come to fruition."

Selectman James Rooney, however, departs from such cautious optimism and issues an enthusiastic statement in response to the MBTA deal and Miceli's and Tarr's roles in making it.

"It's awesome," says Rooney. "This deal is really going to dress up the center of town."

Rooney believes that the town's and the legislators' constant communication with the MBTA finally brought the Authority around to the community's thinking.

"Without Miceli and Tarr, this deal would not have happened," he says. "Now that we have the MBTA locked into this deal, we can squeeze them for all that we want."

How does Rooney respond to the charges that legislators Miceli and Tarr have been slow to inform town officials about the good news?

"Maybe Miceli was slow on the draw, but I don't have a problem with it," says Rooney. "He may not have had the time to touch base with everybody."

Town Manager Michael Cairra, who at the June 26 Selectman meeting made known his growing frustration with the MBTA, was not available for comment.

Such developments mark the latest incarnation of the intersection of Routes 38 and 62, which has been known for years as Wilmington Square. For a look back to another time in the square's history, please turn to page 13 for the re-publication of an article written by Larz Neilson in a 1986 edition of The Town Crier.

and failure to stay within the marked lines of the road.

Gilbert was scheduled to appear in Wrentham District Court on Tuesday, July 25. According to a report in "The Boston Globe," he did not show up for the arraignment.

Also according to "The Boston Globe" are reports that Saturday night's incident was not Gilbert's first brush with the law. Gilbert had been convicted of driving drunk during three other occasions in the past 14 years, once in 1986 and twice in 1992.

At the request of their lawyer, the management at Lynette's Limousine service declined to comment on the situation.

one year from the date of conviction, and could lose his motor vehicle license for no less than 90 days. If convicted on the charge of refusing to submit to a chemical test, a loss of license for no less than 180 days could result.

When contacted, Rooney would only say that he was confident that he would be found not guilty on the charges.

No trial date has yet been set.

Will provide needed power for Wilmington

Reading Municipal Light opens new substation in North Reading

READING - The reading Municipal Light Department (RMLD) officially opened its new North Reading substation July 10, marking the start of a new chapter in the 106 year history of the municipal light department. The substation's 60,000 KVA of firm power will enable RMLD to meet the rapidly increasing electrical needs of the four member communities well into the future.

The short ceremony was conducted at the substation on a six and one half acre tract of land behind the North Reading DPW facility on Chestnut Street. Several RMLD, local and state officials, and North Reading residents were on hand to commemorate the event which has been described as a true testament to the cooperation between the communities of North Reading and Reading.

The location for the new substation was the result of neighbors and local, state and RMLD officials working together to find a site which would be beneficial to the communities and the RMLD. By building on the site behind the DPW facility, the RMLD can also tie easily into the National grid USA, which is also on the site, making the RMLD the first municipal utility to connect directly into the grid.

In his remarks, RMLD Board of Light Commission Chair Philip Pacino told the gathering that the substation, which went into operation at 2 a.m. on June 21, supplies additional power to North Reading and Lynnfield. He noted that crews have been working on the $10.5 million project since the groundbreaking ceremony on September 27, 1999, and that construction work continued throughout the winter months because of the exceptionally mild winter.

"There are many people responsible for this substation and for making it operational," Chairman Pacino said. "For the local officials, to those in hard hats, to the project managers, to the neighbors, everyone worked together to make the substation a reality."

He also praised the neighbors for their hard work in helping to find a location for the substation by forming a partnership with the RMLD and their elected officials. "Everyone should be applauded for their work in making today possible."

Joining him at the podium were two key players in the RMLD substation and its location in North Reading - State Representative Brad Jones and Selectman Steve O'leary. It was Representative Jones and Selectman O'leary who met with neighbors, North Reading, Reading and RMLD officials to work out an agreement which led to the exchange of land between the two communities.

Both Representative Jones and Selectman O'leary touched upon the significance of the event, in terms of the land exchange and the increased electrical capacity. They expressed their appreciation to the RMLD for providing the high level of service to all four of the communities within its service territory (Reading, North Reading, Wilmington and Lynnfield.)

Representative Jones also noted that the North Reading substation is a "test book" case in how cooperation can make this happen. Selectman O'leary congratulated the RMLD for meeting the needs of the community and for their continuing efforts to provide reliable and quality service to its customers. He also congratulated the neighbors of the proposed Haverhill Street site for forming a partnership to "do the right thing."

State Senator Bruce Tarr was also on hand to extend his congratulations, noting the vast difference at the site in such a short period of time, referring to the site on the day of the groundbreaking in September and the official opening. He also presented RMLD Board Chairman Phil Pacino a citation from the Mass. Senate, commending the RMLD for its responsiveness to its customers in all four member communities.

RMLD General Manager Len Rucker reiterated the statements made by the North Reading officials, adding that the former substation on Haverhill Street was not capable of handling the electrical demand anticipated in North Reading in the next decade. The new substation will increase capacity by 100 percent.

Manager Rucker thanked the RMLD Board, staff and substation contractors for the work they did to make the official opening a reality. He introduced the RMLD staff who were instrumental in the day-to-day operations of the project, including Project Manager Jim Blomley, on-site facility technician Tony Butler, Assistant General Manager Vin Cameron, and Chief Engineer Paul Carson. He also recognized the members of the RMLD Board of Light Commissioners: Chairman Pacino, Allan Ames, Willard Burditt, William Hughes, and David Swyter; as well as the members of the RMLD Citizens Advisory Board: Hartnell Bartlett, North Reading, John Corbett, Reading, Roger Stevenin, Wilmington, Roger Lessard, Wilmington; and John Gebhart, Lynnfield.

Among the local and state officials at the ceremonial opening of the North Reading substation were: Reading Selectmen George Hines and Sally Hoyt; North Reading Selectmen Bill Smith, Dana Rowe, Jr., Joe Veno and Steve O'Leary; Town Managers Peter Hechenbleikner (Reading) and Thomas Younger (No. Reading) and North Reading DPW Director Dave Hanlon.

According to RMLD officials who conducted a tour of the substation after the ceremony, the Gaw Substation on Causeway Road, Reading will be tied into the new substation to provide supplemental power for emergencies and maintenance purposes. Like the Gaw Substation, the new substation will operate remotely at RMLD's Operations Center at 230 Ash Street, Reading. All systems, including the Supervisory Control and Data Acquisition (SCADA) system, telephone, data, and informational systems will be connected to Ash Street using state-of-the-art fiber optic cable.

The project was overseen by Jim Blomley as Project Manager who worked with several contractors in the various stages of construction. Joseph P. McCabe coordinated site preparation, while The Ryan Company was responsible for the station construction and the underground duct bank and feeder system. RMLD lien crews installed new cables and poles along Chestnut Street, Haverhill Street, Central Street and Park Street to accommodate the new system.

Tewksbury Police ride in Hog Heaven

TEWKSBURY - Members of Tewksbury's Police Department were scheduled to be among the law enforcement officers who led the Boston Chapter HOG (Harley Motorcycle Riders) Chapter from Cycle Craft in Everett to meet the rest of the riders taking part, in the group's ninth annual "Hog" In the Road for Charity ride, held July 30, from the Westwood train station.

More than 5,000 Harley riders were expected to raise funds for the Boston Ronald McDonald House during this ninth annual "Hog" In the Road for Charity motorcycle ride to benefit the Boston Ronald McDonald House. In honor of the ride, Governor Cellucci officially declared the last Sunday in July as Ronald McDonald House Day.

The 80 mile ride was set to begin at 11:15 a.m. at Cycle Craft in Everett, where the Boston HOG

Chapter was scheduled to be led by police escort to meet the rest of the riders at the Westford train station. After a starting wave from Ronald McDonald, the riders traveled north on Route 128 and then east on Route 9 through Brookline past the police station and town hall to honor the House on Kent Street. From Brookline, the riders traveled on Route 9 West to Route 27 West in Natick, traveling through Wayland, Sudbury and Natick and concluding in Maynard.

Along the way, cyclists are expected to pass by Cycle Craft on Revere Beach Parkway in Everett; Westford Train Station, University Avenue; Route 128 North Overpasses, University Avenue; Brookline Village at Washington Street and Route 9.

Among those expected to take part are Boston Harley Owners

Group (HOGs), Founders of the Ride; more than 60 police departments throughout the state; more than 5,000 New England Harley Riders and Ronald McDonald.

The ride began in 1991 when the Ronald McDonald House provided shelter to an ill relative of a Boston Harley Davidson rider, and the Harley Owners decided to ride to raise funds for this charitable residence. The Harley riders have participated in this event each year since, and through the efforts of the Boston Chapter, it has become the largest HOG chapter-sponsored charity ride on the east coast. Riders donate $15 to participate in the event. Last year, the ride raised more than $38,000 for the Boston Ronald McDonald House.

For more than 20 years the Boston Ronald McDonald House, has opened its doors as a "home away from home" for families whose children were undergoing treatment for cancer at the Dana-Farber Cancer Institute's Jimmy Fund Clinic and Boston Children's Hospital. The House not only offers families affordable accommodations, but provides support and comfort during a difficult time.

On the whole, the weather this summer has been anything but summerlike. If, however, you look beyond the spells of overcast skies and cool drizzle, there are still signs of the season to be found.

One of them is the number of "Concerts on the Common" to be held at Tewksbury Common between now and the end of the month. For free family entertainment, Wednesday nights on the Town Common at 6:30 p.m. can be music to your ears.

- AUGUST 9th. Dust off those hula hoops and don those blue suede shoes. The Reminisants will be playing golden oldies from the 1950s and 1960s.

- AUGUST 16th. Yankee Notions will be in town to offer a mellow dose of Acoustic Folk Music.

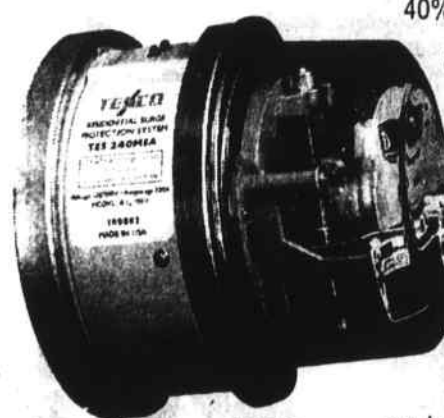

• AUGUST 23rd. Giddyup! Rick Barron & The Quavers will horseride into town for some rootin', tootin' Country and Western tunes.

- AUGUST 30th. Get out your tie-dye shirts, bellbottom jeans, and neon-colored parachute pants. Airtight will blow into town to rock the Common with a concert of classics from the 60s, 70s, and 80s.

DID YOU KNOW...

YOUR HOME CAN BE SUBJECTED TO MORE THAN 100 POWER SURGES EVERY MONTH!

These surges can damage sensitive electronics, equipment and appliances in a flash!

40% of power problems enter your home through the main electric panel, and 60% of internal power problems come in the home through surges in cable TV lines, satellite cable lines, and phone/modems.

That's WHY YOU NEED A SURGE PROTECTOR in your home at the point of entry* - the meter - and at the point of use** - the outlet.

With our NEW SURGE PROTECTION PROGRAM, you can be sure that your equipment and appliances don't fall victim to dips and swells caused by lightning, large appliance cycling on and off, and when your neighbors' appliances cycle on and off, creating a surge of power to outside lines.

If your home has a maximum of 200-amp service and is properly grounded, our surge protection program is made for you!

CONTEST

You can HELP US NAME THIS PROGRAM, too. Think of a name you think would best identify this new program and you could win one of our surge protectors. Call us for more details, or look for additional information in your August bill.

Contest open to all residential customers in the RMLD service territory (Reading, Wilmington, North Reading and Lynnfield Center) and members of their households. No age requirement. Prizes will be awarded to the RMLD customer of record. If a minor's entry is selected, the prize will be awarded to the RMLD customer of highest choice. All contest entries must be received by September 30, 2000.

A PRAYER TO THE BLESSED VIRGIN

(never known to fail)

O Most beautiful Flower of Mount Carmel, Fruitful Vine, Splendor of Heaven, Blessed Mother of the Son of God, Immaculate Virgin, assist me in this my request. O Star of the Sea, help me and show me herein you are my Mother.

O Holy Mary, Mother of God, Queen of Heaven and Earth, I humbly beseech you from the bottom of my heart, to succor me in this request; there are none that can withstand your power.

O, show me herein you are my Mother. O Mary, conceived without sin, pray for us who have recourse to Thee. (3 times)

Sweet Mother, I place this request in your hands. (3 times)

Say for 3 consecutive days and publish. God Bless

SELF-KNOWLEDGE

We live in an "information age," walled and abetted by the current fascination with the computer. Has this information gathering furthered our knowledge of ourselves? Seymour Cohen has observed: "A modern commentator made the observation that there are those who seek knowledge about everything and understand nothing. It is wonder not mere curiosity - a sense of enchantment, of respect for the mysteries of love for the other, that is essential to the difference between a knowing that is simply a gathering of information and techniques and a knowing that seeks insight and understanding. It is wonder that reveals how intimate is the relationship between knowledge of the other and knowledge of the self between inwardness and outwardness."

When a loved one is lost, you might feel the need to "be strong" even though you hurt so deeply. It's okay to cry. Tears are not a sign of weakness, this applies to men as well as women. The experts say that crying helps; and, our experience as funeral service professionals has shown that they are right. At FARMER & DEE FUNERAL HOME, 16 Lee Street, we are attuned to each family's individual concerns and needs, and strive to provide the support that is most comforting at the time. For more information on preneed and current need funeral arrangements, call 851-7411. All faiths are welcome.

Linda Covino attends Realty Executives convention in Chicago

WILMINGTON - Linda Covino of Realty Executives Northeast attended the national Realty Executives International real estate conference held July 28-30 in Chicago.

For more than 10 years, franchise brokers and owners from Realty Executives International have gathered annually to discuss the real estate industry and issues facing brokers and owners around the world. This year, attendees had the opportunity to review industry trends, evaluate progress and explore improvements that can be made to better serve their clients.

Covino and about 225 attendees took part in various sessions during the three days. The conference encourages attendees to network with peers from other offices through roundtable discussions and other programs.

"The convention provided a forum for brokers/owners to congregate and discuss success stories and new business development tactics. It was a great experience to be able to compare ideas and receive feedback on new technology and tools that are helping to improve business in other areas of the country," said Covino.

One of the guest speakers during the conference included Laurie Moore-Moore. Moore-Moore is co-founder of REAL Trends, a publishing and communications company providing news, research and information-based services to the residential real estate industry. Moore addressed industry trends and provided information regarding new techniques in real estate marketing.

Founded 35 years ago as the nation's first 100 percent commission company, Realty Executives International is one of the fastest-growing real estate franchises in the United States, with more than 8,000 sales associates and more than 500 franchises in six countries.

Big Brothers / Big Sisters honor volunteers of the year

TEWKSBURY - At a recent event, Big Brothers Big Sisters of Greater Lowell recognized its volunteers for the work they are doing. Many of the "Bigs" attended receiving awards and gifts. Big Brothers Big Sisters is also beginning its 28th year of providing mentors for needy children in the Greater Lowell community.

The agency currently serves two children in Tewksbury and has the capacity to handle more. They also need volunteers from Tewksbury to serve as Big Brothers and Big Sisters for Tewksbury children.

Executive Director Ken Lazarus hosted the event and expressed his appreciation; "no one in America is doing more for children than our volunteers, you should all be proud of your decision to become a big." Lazarus truly believes what he said, "research shows children with a big brother or sister are 46 percent less likely to start using drugs, because of our volunteers, 33 percent less likely to act out violently, because our volunteers are in their lives. Only a few hours make a big difference."

The highlight of the evening was the presentation of Big Brother and Bib Sister of the year. During an emotional scene the little brother and sister spoke of the importance of having a "big" in their life. First it was the Big brother of the year Steve Bouchard. Steve has been a big brother three times and continues to make a big difference in life of children. His "Little" Ricky spoke of how having Steve around has changed his life. They have fun together and it gives him someone to talk to. Next was the Big Sister of the year Lucille Quijano. Lucille has been a Big Sister for nine years with the same "Little." Her "Little," Jennifer, was a bit shy to speak but her mother had no problem telling the crowd how important Lucille has been not only to Jennifer, but the entire family. They feel Lucille is "a party of the family."

After the awards a fantastic dinner was served with all exchanging stories and enjoying a great slide show.

Anyone interested in learning more about Big Brothers Big Sisters can visit their new web site at www.becomeabig.com or can call 978-453-9339.

TEWKSBURY - John T. Collins IV, grandson of Maire Matranga of Juniper Lane, Tewksbury has been promoted in the U.S. Army to the rank of sergeant.

Sgt. Collins is an infantryman with Charlie Company, 27th Infantry Division, Schofield Barracks, Oahu, Hawaii.

He is the son of Rosan Venuti of Medford and a 1993 graduate of Medford Vocational-Technical High School.

Tewksbury Senior Topics

The public is welcome to

Breakfast benefit Sunday, August 6

TEWKSBURY - The senior citizens will hold a breakfast benefit Sunday, August 6 from 7:30 to 11 at the Tewksbury Senior Center, 175 Chandler Street. The menu will include pancakes, scrambled eggs, bacon, home fries, beans, cinnamon bread and beverages. The public is welcome.

Tickets may be obtained at the door at the following prices, adults $4; children 12 and under $2; and toddlers free. All proceeds from this event will benefit the Senior Center Building Fund.

The Senior Center monthly "Cootie Party" will be held Monday, August 7, at 1 p.m. Those looking for an afternoon filled with fun and plenty of laughs, this activity is the answer. All are welcome.

Dean Treachis of the Tewksbury Board of Health will be conducting a lecture on "Water" at the Senior Center Wednesday, August 9. This lecture will begin at 11 a.m. in the main hall. All residents are welcome to attend.

The "Concert on the Common" in the evening on August 9 will be the "Reminisants" who will be playing music from the 50's and 60's. All concerts will begin at 6:30 p.m.

The last day to register for the SERVE food package will be Thursday, August 10 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. The Tewksbury SERVE program is open to all residents of Tewksbury. It is a program which helps people of all income levels stretch their food dollars. For more information on the SERVE program, call Mary Ann Wareham at 851-3344 or Linda Brabant at the Senior Center, 640-4480.

An activities meeting will be held next Thursday, August 10, in the crafts room beginning at 2:30 p.m. Again, all seniors are welcome.

The Senior Center monthly dance will be held Friday, August 18. The evening will include a hot and cold buffet at 6:30 p.m. followed by dancing to the music of the Jim Sutton and the "Perfect Match." Those planning to attend should obtain their tickets by August 11.

Although it is not our intent to shorten the summer, fall is fast approaching and new programs are being planned. If you are planning to continue with oil painting classes on Monday or Tuesday afternoons and wood carving class on Tuesday morning, please be sure that your name is listed on the appropriate sheets at the front desk. An interest list has been posted on the lobby bulletin board for a Monday afternoon (1 to 3:30) "Japanese Bunka Embroidery" class and a Friday morning (8:30 to 9:30) Tai Chi class.

If interested, please place your name and telephone number on the lists. Once interest is shown and we get a feel for the number of participants, confirmed details will be available.

You'll also find an interest list on the same bulletin board regarding a program conducted by "Stroke Prevention of New England." This agency goes on site (i.e. Senior Center) and administers Ultrasound Health Screenings of senior citizens and other at-risk members of the community. This team of medical professional screen for stroke, abdominal aneurysms, peripheral artery disease and osteoporosis.

Since these diseases rarely show symptoms, doctors are unable to routinely order these tests under the present health care system. Due to this fact, there would be an out of pocket fee for participants of $45. The goal of this preventative screening program is the early detection of potential health problems from diseases that leave lasting effects on so many unsuspecting lives. If you think you would be interested in participating in such a program, please place your name and telephone number on the list. The COA staff will contact you if and when such a screening is held.

Once again, Tewksbury Seniors have been invited for a barge ride on the Merrimack River with refreshments served on shore. This early evening excursion has been tentatively planned for Tuesday, August 22 and will be confirmed once the director finds the information she misplaced! There will be a slight charge of $2 for this trip.

The Friends of the Elderly third annual "Golf Connection" Tournament will be held Monday, September 11, at the Andover Country Club. The cost is $125 per person and includes: a continental breakfast, green fees, cart, lunch and prizes. All proceeds from the "Golf Connection" will benefit the Senior Center Building Fund. For more information one may call Mary Ann Wareham at 851-3344.

The seniors are also planning a giant yard sale and senior version of the "Antique Roadshow" for Saturday, September 16. Table space is $10 per space and the event will be held rain or shine. Now's the time to start gathering your wares as well as those valued pieces to be appraised by Arthur Bergeron. To reserve a space one may contact Carol Hazel or Linda Brabant at the Senior Center.

The following day trips have been posted at the Senior Center and tickets are now available. Shopping with Norma (a lot of walking and getting on/off bus) on Monday, August 21 at a cost of $41 per person including motorcoach transportation, mystery shops and lunch; a visit to the Redhook Ale Brewery and the Lobster Barn in York on Monday, August 28 at $31 per person; (3) a Boston Duck Tour and visit to Quincy Market with lunch on your own on Friday, September 8 at $23 per person; (4) Rockingham Park on Monday, September 18 with luncheon at $18 per person (school bus); (5) the Amesbury Playhouse to see "Fiddler on the Roof" on Sunday, September 24, at $26 per person; and (6) Foxwood Casino on Thursday, September 28 at $21 per person.

A pleasant week is wished to all.

A primer on your rights regarding Nursing Home MassHealth assistance

WILMINGTON - This important information just came in from Cambridge and Somerville Legal Services. This information would be worth cutting out to save. This information is also pertinent for Nursing Home MassHealth.

Has your application for MassHealth been denied? Has your MassHealth coverage been terminated? Has your doctor's request for prior approval for payment of treatment you need been denied? The Division of Medical Assistance (DMA), the agency that administers Mass health (a/k/a Medicaid) in Massachusetts, takes these actions every day when the agency determines that an individual is not qualified for the MassHealth program or particular service. When DMA's conclusion is incorrect, an eligible applicant or recipient may be wrongly denied benefits. If you think DMA has taken an incorrect action against you, you may challenge DMA at a "fair hearing."

What is a fair hearing? A fair hearing allows MassHealth applicants or recipients, including residents of a nursing facility, to challenge an unfavorable DMA action and seek its correction. The fair hearing itself is a formal meeting run by an impartial hearing officer of DMA's Board of Hearings ("BOH") in which each side presents his or her position. The hearing officer renders a decision based on the pertinent regulations and evidence. The hearings are held either at the DMA Board of Hearings in Boston or at a MassHealth Enrollment Center. If you are unable to attend, you may participate by telephone.

What kinds of actions may I appeal?

You may request a fair hearing regarding any DMA action denied, reduces, suspends, terminates, or restricts assistance to you as an applicant or recipient of MassHealth. Other appealable actions include DMA's failure to timely act on your request for assistance or to properly notify you of a pending change in benefits. You may also request a hearing if a DMA worker engages in coercive or improper conduct (when a worker attempts to intimidate you into taking action that is not in your best interest or abuses his or her authority).

How do I request a fair hearing? You or an authorized representation of your choice may request a fair hearing by completing the section of the DMA notice of action which is reserved for appeals: your name, address, MassHealth for Social Security number, telephone number, authorized representative, if any, and the reason for the appeal. The reason may be simply, "I disagree with this decision." (If you did not receive a written notice, you may write the same information out on any paper.) Add a request for an interpreter, if you need one. Send an appeal to the Board of hearings by facsimile transmission at 617-210-5820 (and keep proof) or mail it by first class mail to Board of Hearings, 2 Boylston Street, Boston, MA 02111. You should call the BOH at 617-210-5800 or 1-800-655-0338 to confirm the request.

How quickly must I request a fair hearing?

DMA must receive your request for a hearing within 30 days of the date of written notice of the DMA's action (an additional three days is allowed for mailing). A very limited number of actions may be appealed within 120 days or longer, but the safest step is to appeal as soon as possible. If you do not file your appeal on time, it may be dismissed. Even if you are attempting to resolve the problem with a DMA worker, you should file the appeal to protect your rights. You can always withdraw, if the problem is resolved. Note: If you are appealing the termination of assistance you may continue to receive MassHealth coverage if you appeal within 10 days. Such "aid pending" will continue until a decision is rendered. However, if you lose your appeal you will be liable for the intervening benefits. If you have any questions or wish to request legal representation at a fair hearing, please call: Senior Citizens' Law Project 432 Columbia Street, Cambridge, MA 02141 (617) 603-2710.

Senior Center Updates: August 7, the Senior Center has received 20 free tickets to the Lowell Spinners Game. Anyone interested should call the Center at 657-7595; also if transportation, it can be provided.

August 9, Annual "cookout" at noon.

August 16, Movie Day, "Green Mile, 1:30 p.m. The Center is in the process of collecting donations for the Annual Yard Sale to raise money for the Wilmington High School Scholarship Fund. This event will take place Saturday, September 16.

Wilmington Library Notes

Wilmington Library seems to be going "all out" with Internet classes, outer space frontiers and the end of the sidewalk

Where the sidewalk ends

WILMINGTON - Children ages six and up are invited to celebrate the poems of Shel Silverstein with Joshua Jay "Waffles." This one hour performance of original music, improvisational theater and sing-along will be held Tuesday, August 8 at 7 p.m. Call the library at 658-2967 to reserve your free tickets.

Thank you to the Wilmington Rotary Club for sponsoring this program.

The Frontier of Outer Space

In keeping with the statewide reading program theme, "Open Books, Open Frontiers," the Children's Department will help children discover the frontier of outer space with special programs. On Thursday, August 10 at 10 a.m., children ages five and up are invited to stop by the library for "Outer Space Stories and Crafts." On Friday, August 11 at 2 p.m., Kids Club for children ages nine and up can use their imagination in "It Came from Outer Space" craft fun.

Internet classes

If the Internet seems like its from "outer space" a free Internet class at the library can launch you into the 21st Century. These one half hour classes taught by staff librarians offer a basic introduction to searching. These classes may not get you on board the next space shuttle, but they will help you learn how to find out the latest news on the space program. Call the library at 658-2967 to register for classes held on Tuesday and Thursday evenings at 7 p.m. and Friday mornings at 10.

Baskin-Robbins to give ice cream and books

In celebration of its grand opening in Wilmington, Baskin-Robbins store will be giving away a free scoop of ice cream to everyone who comes into the store on Sunday, August 6 from 6 to 9 p.m. To commemorate the opening, Baskin-Robbins is partnering with "First Book," a non profit organization to purchase books to give to children free of charge. Wilmington Memorial Library will receive the monetary gift and the staff at the library will select and distribute these books to children throughout the year at special library events. The library is happy to participate in this generous program that encourages children to experience the joy of reading and of owning their own books.

Reading Light offering new surge protectors

READING - Because all electrical appliances and sensitive electronic equipment operate at a particular voltage and amperage, they are vulnerable to even routine voltage surges and drops. These power dips and swells can happen for a variety of reasons, including appliances which cycle on and off, lightning strikes, downed power lines, electrical circuit exposure from cables and phone/modem lines, and even when your neighbor's appliance cycle on and off, creating a surge in the outside power lines.

The Reading Municipal Light Department (RMLD) has launched a new program that offers residential customers a "bubble of protection" against these power surges and dips. The program offers two ways to protect appliances and sensitive electronic equipment both at the meter, the point where the electricity enters the home and at the outlet where power surges can enter expensive equipment and appliances.

The primary point-of-entry surge protector at the main service panel or meter intercepts surges and dips coming into the home through the power lines. Available for lease by the RMLD, these protectors protect air conditioners, alarm and fire detection systems, as well as those that plug directly into an outlet.

The plug-in surge protectors protect sensitive equipment and appliances at the outlet when large appliances and equipment cycle on and off, or when power surges come into the home over the telephone or cable TV wires. These protectors are sold to customers who lease point of entry protectors.

Before these surge protectors can be installed, a representative from the RMLD will visit the home to inspect the electrical service to determine whether the home or apartment does not exceed the maximum amperage. Homes can not have more than 200 amp service and must have adequate ground.

To introduce the program to its customers, the RMLD is conducting a contest to name the power protection program. Open to all residential customers, the contest offers a grand prize of a point-of-entry meter socket surge protector with installation and a free 10 year lease for the protector; a second prize of a Panamax surge protector and a $50 gift certificate; and a third prize of a Panamax surge protector and a $25 gift certificate.

Informational materials about the program and the contest have been included in the August residential billing statements. For further information, or to schedule an appointment, call the RMLD at 781-944-1340.

Susan P. Hall graduates Syracuse University

WILMINGTON - Susan P. Hall of Wilmington, a psychology major in the College of Arts and Sciences at Syracuse University, has graduated from the University with an honors degree following the successful completion of an Honors Thesis Project.

An Honors Thesis Project, the capstone experience in a challenging course of study, offers undergraduate students, in close consultation with a faculty member, intensive research and/or creative experience in one's major. In addition to meeting standard degree-program requirements, students must take two seminars on the planning and execution of the thesis project and two advanced, enhanced, or graduate level courses contributing directly to the thesis project; maintain an honors level grade point average; and present the thesis project before a review committee.

Thesis Project Honors is a component of Syracuse University's Honors Program which enhances opportunities for excellence in creative and scholarly learning and supports the academic, professional and personal growth of outstanding undergraduate students.

Students completing Honors Thesis Projects were recognized at a special academic convocation May 12.

Officially chartered in 1870 as a private, coeducational institution of higher education, Syracuse University is a leading student-centered research university. Syracuse's 13 schools and colleges share the common mission: to promote learning through teaching, research, scholarship, creative accomplishment and service while embracing the core values of quality, caring, diversity, innovation, and service. The 680-acre campus is home to more than 18,000 full and part-time undergraduate and graduate students from all 50 states and 90 countries.

Rebecca Dealey weds James DeMarco

WILMINGTON - Rebecca Leigh Dealey, daughter of Pam and Joe Dealey of Dallas, Texas, became the bride of James A. DeMarco, son of Rosemary and John DeMarco of Crystal Road, Wilmington, July 1, 2000.

The Rev. Mark Anschutz performed the ceremony before the altar of St. Michaels and All Saints Episcopal Church in Dallas.

The bride's sister Melissa Dealey served as maid of honor while David Stewart, close friend of the groom acted as best man.

Immediately following the ceremony,

a reception was held at the Dallas Country Club.

Jim is a 1992 graduate of Wilmington High School and both Jim and Leigh graduated from Trinity College in Hartford, Connecticut. Jim is currently employed as a software consultant at Excelergy Corporation in Lexington. Leigh is entering her third year at Tufts University School of Veterinary Medicine in Grafton, Mass.

Following a Caribbean cruise honeymoon, the couple is now living in Shrewsbury, Mass.

Husband and Wife to ride in Pan Mass Bike Ride

Sullivan tandem to meet another challenge

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Already in their lives, Kevin and Cynthia Sullivan have gone through many challenges.

This weekend should be no different.

Kevin, 51, has gone through the personal challenges of seeing his mother, brother and sister-in-law all survive through battles of their own cancer.

Kevin's wife, Cynthia, 49, had the challenge of getting through the loss of her brother-in-law, not to mention almost losing three members of her husband's family.

Perhaps those challenges right there are some of the reasons why the two of them are among the three thousand bicyclists who'll be riding 184 miles over a two-day period starting from Wellesley and ending in Provincetown starting on Saturday morning.

They'll be riding in the 20th annual Pan Mass Challenge bike ride. Already doubling the minimum amount of money to be raised to help benefit cancer patients in the Jimmy Fund, the Sullivans are almost at the $6,000 amount. Yet another challenge.

"I've done a lot of distance running so I'm confident in my physical ability," said Kevin, who'll be riding in his first PMC, while Cynthia will be making her second tour. "I just don't know if I'm ready for Monday's recuperation," he said with a chuckle.

Kevin grew up on Cape Cod where he played baseball, football and basketball in high school. He moved to Andover later on, before settling here in Wilmington five years ago. For 13 years he ran the Boston Marathon with his last being in 1997 when he said his right knee gave out. Between that he has been inspired by many people: those who have affected by cancer in one way or another.

"Last year I was the guy who rode in the van behind my wife and her friend to make sure everything was OK," he said. "I was so touched by everyone who was involved. Everyone had a story - I was inspired by each and every person. That's why I got involved to try to help those who have struggled so terribly with cancer."

While Kevin will be a rookie when he pedals off beginning at 6 am on Saturday morning, Cynthia will know what to expect this time around. She said last year the first day was terrific, it was a beautiful day and she was able to go at her own pace. But the second day she said was much tougher.

"I was sore, it was raining and there were some big hills," she said. "I was struggling. We were coming down one of the hills and it was pouring out and the number on my jersey got so wet it flew off and landed on the chain [of my bike]. It was stuck in it and it took us a while to get it out. My friend helped me and after we got it out she turned to me and said [that her brother] 'Kevin [who was battling cancer at the time] is going for chemo-therapy this week. So what we are going through now is nothing compared to what he is going through'."

"It's things like that which touch you and get you through it."

Cynthia grew up in Philadelphia before moving to Massachusetts. She was also an athlete in high school playing softball, volleyball and basketball. She also took up running until it bothered her knees so much so that she couldn't do it anymore, much like her husband. She said she now takes up golf, rollerblading and biking.

"I've been in marathons and races and this is a very different sensation," she said. "When you are riding in this people are clapping for you because of what you are doing for other people. In races, they clap for you because you are in a race. But the [PMC] is for a cause, and it's so much more gratifying helping others than just running in some race."

Last year Cynthia really didn't know what to expect. She knew the 186 miles would be tough, but she also didn't realize what a challenge it would be mentally for her.

"We stopped at one of the rest stops along the way and there was a little boy standing there with a sign that said 'I'm four years old thanks to you all'. I saw him and that sign and it was so hard to hold back tears."

"When you see something like that, then you realize you are doing something good."

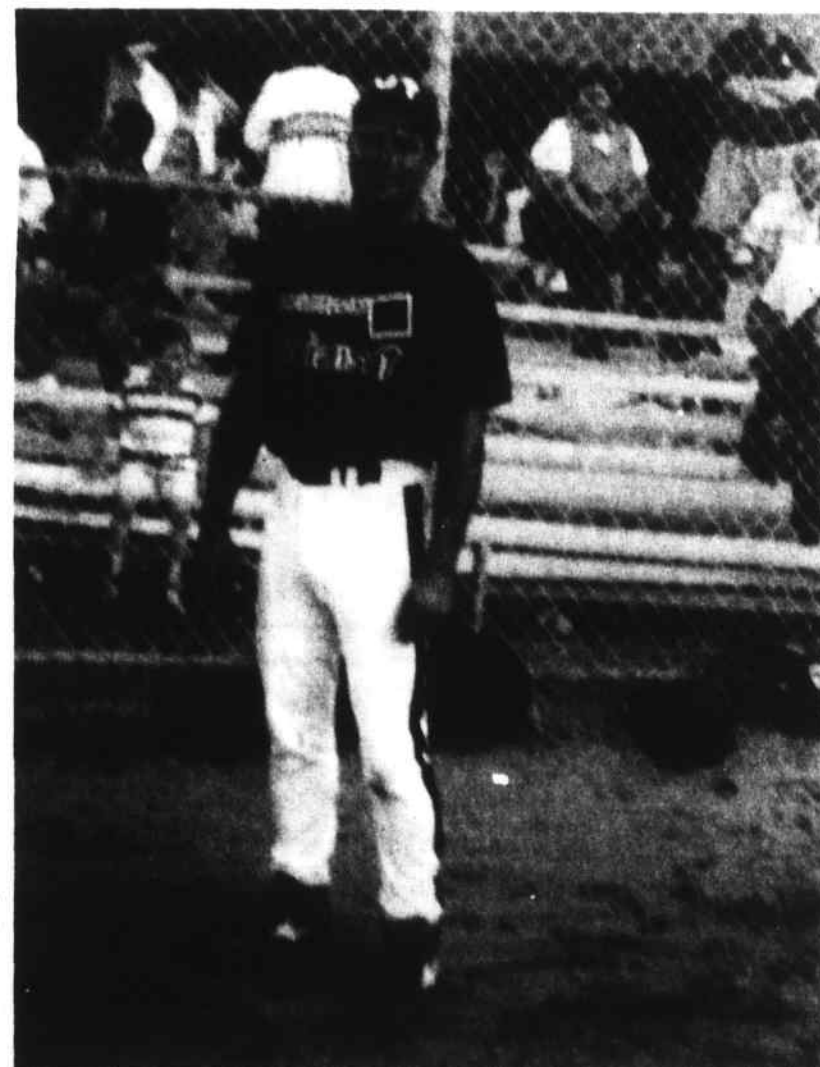

Other locals riding this weekend include: Patrice and Dan McGinness, Mickey Rooney and Steven Taylor of Wilmington, as well as Dan D'Aquila, David Frawley, Sue Hendee and David Winthrop of Tewksbury.

To get more information about the Pan Mass Challenge or to donate, you may go to their website at PMC.ORG.

Softball tourney at Aprile Field

Starting the weekend of August 11th, there will be a major softball fast pitch tournament to be played at Aprile Field in Wilmington. Of the teams that will be there include the Tighe Club, as well as two of the best teams from Canada. Pictured above is the best player from Baker Assurance, Mario Drolet. Baker Assurance reigns from Quebec City. They will join the Tighe Club, as will Dany Massie, pictured below, of the AirTransat softball team of Montreal. Look in next week's edition for more information about the tournament. (courtesy photos)

They made boingers and went to Water Country

WILMINGTON - Although the rainy weather caused two days of Playground at the Glen Road location to be canceled last week, playgrounders who attended still had a great time with the activities that were planned.

On Monday, July 24, playgrounders had an awesome time making neon boingers for the weekly arts and crafts projects. These cute, bright colored character pins were found "boinging" all over playground on Monday!

Tuesday, July 25, the Glen Road and the Woburn Street Playgrounds combined for the annual field trip to Water Country in Portsmouth, N.H. Playgrounders who attended the trip had an awesome time going in the wave pool and in the Lazy River, as well as going on fast water slide rides like Geronimo, Warp 8 and The Raging Rapids. Back at the Glen Road Playground, fun activities, like decorating bumper stickers, were still held for those who did not attend the field trip.

Wednesday, July 26 and Thursday, July 27 were supposed to be the Playground Olympics and Halloween Day respectively. Due to bad weather, however, Playground was not held on either of these days and the activities were postponed to this week.

On Friday, July 28, the Playground held its annual Smoke Free Paper Plane Extravaganza. With paper airplane materials and special prizes supplied by Linda Kanter of the Wilmington Tobacco Control Department, playgrounders made and designed their own paper airplanes, and then flew them as far as they could in order to receive a special prize. Each participant received a prize to remind him or her to "Stomp Out Tobacco" and remain "Smoke Free." The activity was a big hit, and everyone enjoyed his or her prizes!

The leaders would like to give a special thanks to Linda Kanter and to Water Country for their help last week with the Smoke Free Paper Plane extravaganza and the field trip respectively. Also, congratulations to last week's Playgrounders of the Week, Matt Sullivan and Elysha Clancy, and Volunteers of the Week, Holly Flynn and Greg Boland. Last. A huge congratulations goes out to every playgrounder who participated in an activity last week!

UMass-Lowell Volleyball Camp offered this upcoming week

The UMass Lowell River Hawk Volleyball Camp for boys and girls aged 11-18 will be held the week of Monday, August 7 through Thursday, August 10 at Costello Gymnasium on the North Campus.

The Camp is directed by Karen McNulty, who is in her seventh season as head coach of the UMass Lowell volleyball team. McNulty has posted a 119-101 record over six seasons and led the River Hawks to the Eastern College Athletic Conference (ECAC) Division II Tournament last season. UML capped the year with a 23-12 record.

The camp will run from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Campers will be divided into girls groups and boys groups and by ability and experience. The camp features daily drill stations, lectures and specialty position training; as well as optional jump, strength and conditioning training and games. In addition, campers will have the option of using the 25 yard indoor swimming pool and weight room after each day's session.

Campers will receive instruction from several members of the UMass Lowell volleyball team, as well as NCAA Division I, II and III coaches and athletes and local high school coaches.

The cost to attend the camp is $130 with a $35 deposit and is limited to the first 100 entries. UML faculty/staff members and Youngstar members will receive a 10 percent discount ($117).

To receive a brochure or for more information, contact UML Head Coach Karen McNulty at 978-934-2319.

THE MERRIMACK VALLEY TWISTERS UNDER 16 SOFTBALL TEAM went to Columbus, Ohio this week and participated in the ASA Tournament and did fairly well. (Courtesy Photo).

Under 16 Twisters finish up strong in Ohio

The Merrimack Valley Twisters 16U fast pitch softball team competed in the National Softball Association (NSA) World Series in Columbus, Ohio during the week of July 23, through July 30. Participating in the tournament were 687 teams from 30 states and Canada. In the 16U age group was the largest group of teams - 196.

The Twisters are based in Tewksbury and its roster is currently comprised of girls from Tewksbury and surrounding towns. Competing in the World Series were:

- 1) Tewksbury: Kelly Boyle, Amy VonKahle, Lauren Welch, Brianne Smith and Jaclyn Kinsman.
  - 2) Andover: Andrea Manners and Molly Reimer
  - 3) Concord: Ashley Busa and Brittany Busa
  - 4) Carlisle: Jazen Jacobellis
  - 6) Boxboro: Leigh Crosby
  - 7) Groton: Amanda Patierno
- Coaches: Tom Boyle, Jim Patierno, Jack Kinsman and Wayne Busa.

The Twisters finished up 2-2 and ended up tied for 25th out of 196 teams competing in the 16U age group. All players contributed to last week's success. Amy VonKahle, Jaclyn Kinsman and Brianne Smith each pitched strong complete games.

Providing offensive punch were Kelly Boyle (4-for-6, HR, double); Brianne Smith (4-for-12), Lauren Welch (4-for-13), Jaclyn Kinsman (4-for-12) and Jazen Jacobellis (4-for-8). Leigh Crosby was strong behind the plate, catching all four games. Also strong in the field were Andrea Manners, Molly Reimer, Brittany and Ashley Busa and Amanda Patierno.

Game I vs. Park Forest Eagles, Crete, Illinois

The Twisters jumped out to an early lead in the bottom of the first after singles by Jazen Jacobellis and Kelly Boyle were followed by an RBI single by Brianne Smith and an RBI groundout by Lauren Welch.

The Eagles came back with one run in the top of the third following a walk, fielder's choice and a single. However, the Twisters exploded for five runs in their half of the third on an error; singles by Kelly Boyle, Lauren Welch, Ashley Busa, Jaclyn Kinsman and Amy VonKahle and a double by Brittany Busa.

The Eagles rallied once more with two runs in the sixth and put two runners on in the seventh before Amy VonKahle grabbed a line drive to end the rally and the game. VonKahle pitched a complete game, giving up four hits and four walks while striking out six. Kelly Boyle and Jaclyn Kinsman each had two hits. Amanda Patierno made a great inning catch in right field.

Game II vs. Jersey Diamondbacks from Pittsboro, N.J.

The Diamondbacks jumped out early after a walk and three errors on the next play and led 2-0. Following a strikeout another walk and a hit put a runner in scoring position with but one out. An infield out put both runners in scoring position.

Pitcher Jaclyn Kinsman struck out the last batter. She and the rest of the team settled down after that shaky start and allowed but one baserunner (walk) for the rest of the game. Kinsman finished with a one-hitter, walking three with five strikeouts.

The Twisters didn't get on the board until the bottom of the third. After Jazen Jacobellis doubled, Kelly Boyle hit a two out line drive homerun over the right fielder's head to tie the game at two. Unfortunately, on that swing Boyle aggravated a prior right wrist injury which sent her to the hospital and out of the tournament.

The score remained tied until the bottom of the fifth when Jazen Jacobellis and Lauren Welch got things started with one out singles. An RBI single by Amy VonKahle and an RBI double by Brianne Smith put the Twisters ahead to stay 4-2. The Twisters scored three more times in the sixth and were still batting when the game was called on the one hour and 30 minute time limit.

Game III East Coast Cougars from Port Orange, Florida

The game was scoreless until the bottom of the third when Lauren Welch dropped a hit over the first baseman's head on the foul line. It immediately spun out of play, giving Welch a double. Ashley Busa sacrificed her to third and Jazen Jacobellis laid down a perfect suicide squeeze bunt that scored Welch sliding on a very close play.

Amy VonKahle had not let up a hit through four innings and only three baserunners (two walks and an error). However, with one out in the fifth a ground ball was smashed on the hard, and sometimes uneven, infield. The ball took a terrible hop as it reached shortstop Jazen Jacobellis and struck her in the face sending her to the hospital with a broken nose.

The Cougar who hit the ball ended up on second and eventually scored along with one other runner that inning. Brittany Busa came on in relief in the middle of the sixth and pitched a scoreless seventh. The Cougars scored two more runs in the sixth and won 4-1. (Note: The East Coast Cougars ended up fifth in the country.)

Game IV vs. Seminole Warriors from Water Springs, Florida

This game was a pitcher's duel all the way. It was scoreless until the top of the third when Andrea Manners doubled and was sacrificed to third by Jaclyn Kinsman. After a second out, catcher Leigh Crosby stroked a solid line drive single to center scoring Manners. Manners and Crosby combined defensively as well to keep the Seminole Warriors off the board on two occasions.

Each time a runner tried to score from the third on a ground ball. Each time third baseman Manners came up with tough stop and made strong throws to Crosby who blocked the plate and made the tag.

However, the Warriors did eventually score and tie the game at one in the sixth. With one out and a runner on third the Warrior batter grounded out. The runner broke for home after the play at first and scored ahead of the first baseman's throw. It appeared that the batter had interfered with the first baseman's attempt to throw out the runner, but was not called. A discussion with the umpires did not change the call.

The Seminole Warriors won it in the bottom of the seventh with two outs and the bases loaded. A bloop opposite field hit scored the winning run despite a great effort by right fielder Molly Reimer. She fielded the ball on one hop and almost threw the runner out at first.

Brianne Smith pitched a strong complete game, scattering six hits and walking only one. This loss ended the tournament for the Twisters (double elimination format).

There were a number of Mass. teams who qualified for the World Series in the 16U age group. The Twisters finished in a tie for 25th, Fire 'n Ice (ASA state champs) finished in a tie for 49th, the Bay State Bandits finished in a tie for 65th as did the Northeast Quicksilver and the Franklin Thunder.

Under 14 Twisters take one in Virginia

THE MERRIMACK VALLEY TWISTERS 14 AND UNDER SOFTBALL TEAM went 1-2 during their tournament this past week held in Sterling, Virginia. Before their trip, Danielle DelPonte and Katie Petros were all smiles during a practice, while, below, Jenn Elwell practices her throws. (Photos by Maureen Lamoureux).

The Merrimack Valley Twisters Under 14 softball team came home after a respectable week of play down at the Pony National Softball Tournament held in Sterling, Virginia.

After playing in the round robin tournament to figure out the eight brackets of ten teams, the team played three games, winning one in the double elimination tournament.

"We played good against some of the best teams in the country," said head coach Kevin Walsh. "I'd say 80 to 85 percent of the teams down there were like us: good pitching, good defense and no one has enough hitting. We were in every game."

After winning 4-2 to the South Jersey Bandits in the opening round of the round robin, the Twisters lost their next two games, 7-6 and 2-0. However, they picked themselves right back up with a win in the first round of the real competition against the Vienna Stars of Virginia. The Twisters rallied from an 2-0 deficit to win 7-2, thanks to some timely hitting from Wilmington native Shannon Fahey and Tewksbury natives Kim Aceto, Katie Petros and Danielle DelPonte who all had two hits each.

Jenn Elwell of Tewksbury was the winning pitcher. She gave up two unearned runs, and walked one and struck out one.

The next game the Twisters took on a very highly touted team called the Shamrocks from Virginia. Walsh said the team was extremely good as they played 11 months during the year and most of the players were very tall and extremely good hitters. The Twisters lost 5-0 to the team that finished fifth in the entire tournament. Petros and Aceto had hits, while, Allison Arrigg of Andover suffered the tough loss on the mound.

On Thursday the Twisters met up with the Vienna Stars again and this time they lost 3-1. Lindsay Cullity, of Tewksbury, was the first batter of the game and she scored, but that was all the Twisters got.

"We had a lot of opportunities to score but we just didn't get the hit we needed," said Walsh.

The Twisters had second and third with no outs in the sixth but didn't get anyone to cross home plate.

Walsh said the team now has a week off before the Methuen Tournament and then the upcoming Tewksbury tournament to be held later this month.

THE TEWKSBURY 9 AND 10 YEAR OLD AMERICAN LEAGUE ALL-STAR BASEBALL team has cleaned up everything in sight. This past Friday night they won the District title (above) and they also won the Chelmsford tournament. (Courtesy Photos).

Americans sweep both tournaments

The Tewksbury American 10 year old All-Star Team clinched the District 14 championship with a win over the Andover National at Deyermund Field in Andover.

The Tewksbury American trailed 2-0 after three innings. Scott Darby doubled and advanced to third on an infield out by Scott Oberg and scored the first run on a sacrifice fly to center field by Justin Torname.

In the fifth inning nine batters came to the plate. Donald Berube walked and scored the tying run when Pat Devlin was walked with the bases loaded. Bobby Burns singled and eventually scored on a wild pitch.

Eric Medina who walked, also scored on a sacrifice fly to left field by Scott Darby. The final run was scored by Patrick Devlin who walked and came across on a single by Scott Oberg.

The Manager Lou Torname, Coach Jim Mazzapica and Coach Roberto Medina would like to congratulate the entire 10 year old All-Stars who compiled a 12 and 0 record. This team swept the Chelmsford Tournament with seven straight wins and went on to take the District 14 championship with a 5 and 0 record.

The 10 year old American All Stars consist of Donald Berube, Bobby Burns, Scott Capraro, Scott Darby, Tyler Deshler, Patrick Devlin, Joe Killion, Jimmy Mazzapica, Eric Medina, Anthony Miano, Scott Oberg, Michael Reichert, Jimmy Tarpey and Justin Torname.

Lowell Legion still alive in states

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

With two wins in the double elimination tournament, the Lowell Post 87 Legion baseball team's third game was postponed both on Monday and Tuesday night in the tournament held in Greenfield, Ma.

Lowell will play Wednesday night against Holyoke beginning at 8 p.m. at Greenfield High's Veterans Stadium.

On Sunday, Lowell defeated West Boylston, 10-7. Lowell scored seven runs in the top of the eighth after trailing 7-3 to keep them in the winner's bracket. Tewksbury locals Kevin Doherty (knocked in 10th run), Scott Favreau (belted a two-run single) and Tom Sullivan (solid game behind the plate) all played well. Mark Boudreau, Bob Moulaison and Jim Sullivan are also members of the team.

The day before Lowell defeated Weymouth by the same 10-7 score. All of the locals again had very good games including Doherty who pitched in relief.

Should Lowell win the state championship, they will advance to the New England Regionals to be held August 10-14 at West Warwick, Rhode Island.

Locals at Bay State Games

Joanne Harriman and Bill Harriman, both of Tewksbury and Kimberly Gillespie of Wilmington Recently placed in the Bay State Summer Games.

REPORTER MIA CARTER learns her fate in Woburn District Court as she appears before Judge Marie Jackson-Thompson, the presiding justice. Carter was arrested by the Burlington Police Department and went through the court system before being incarcerated at the Billerica House of Correction. The "mock arrest" was all part of the research for this three part Middlesex East series. At right she is shown in the detention cell at the court house. (Photos by Don Young)

PART II

By MIA CARTER

Now it's time to face judgement. I've been captured, arrested, and booked on charges of armed bank robbery - all as part of a pre-arranged trip through the justice system for this three part Middlesex East series.

After spending approximately half an hour behind bars (or more suitably, plexiglass) at the Burlington Police Station, I'm approached by Matron Helen M. Bulman and Officer Bernie Schipiletti and subsequently told it's time to move on to Woburn District Court.

I emerge from the holding cell in my socks and I'm escorted upstairs to the booking area for a much-anticipated reunion with my shoes. No sooner than I tie the laces, do I find my arms being pulled behind my back and re-handcuffed. Luckily, the cuffs are double locked this time - this means they won't reduce in size and constrict around my wrists if I happen to move the wrong way.

My bag of "property" is col-

Woodchips

ANTHONY MANCONI

Folks, can anyone tell me, what happened to TV programs like, "The Voice of Firestone", "I Remember Mama" with Irene Dunne, and YES, I'm a Senior Citizen but I loved to watch, "Leave it to Beaver"!

I received a card from my friend Atty. Charlie and Ida Kagan that I will "never" throw out. Charlie wrote above the printed words on the card, "Woodchipper, you make our world a happier place." Charlie and Ida, your card came just in time. I was about to "Ditch it all," and go "fishing." "Thanks."

Teaching is one of the most important professions, positions or callings. Teachers have been entrusted with the awesome responsibility to impart knowledge of facts to their students. No person should ever entertain the desire to enter the field of teaching, having as a primary purpose or goal, "Salary," "Material Gain" or a "Soft Berth". To do that, would constitute a gross betrayal to themselves, our children and most of all to our Creator, whose commandment was and still is, Woodchips to S-4

MOVIE REVIEWS

"What Lies Beneath"

BY PAUL FEELY

MOVIE: "WHAT LIES BENEATH"
GRADE: **

Review: This mediocre horror movie gets by on the star power of its two leads, Harrison Ford and Michelle Pfeiffer.

They play a husband and wife who are facing empty nest syndrome, when Pfeiffer's character starts having hallucinations and seeing ghostly apparitions. It turns out that their home is being haunted, by the ghost of a woman whom Ford's character had an affair with years ago, who wants her revenge.

Hooray to Hollywood for pairing up a husband and wife team that are close to each other in actual age, but the script isn't what it could be. Some moments are scary, but for the most part, if you have seen the coming attraction trailer for this one, you already know what's coming.

SHORTTAKES
MOVIE: "X-MEN"
GRADE: ***

Review: is one of the better comic book adaptations to come along since Tim Burton's 'Batman', and was obviously written and directed by a fan of the wildly popular series.

The premise is that evolution occurs through the slow mutation of a species, and that every 100,000 years or so there is an explosion of mutations. That is happening now, as hundreds of humans are turning up with superpowers that intensify when they reach puberty.

Relatively unknown actor Hugh Jackman stars as Logan, a mutant with a self-healing power, retractable metal claws and a super-strong endoskeleton called Wolverine. Patrick Stewart plays Professor X, who runs a school where mutants can learn to harness their skills.

Ian McKellan plays Magneto, an evil mutant that wants to wipe out the human race for persecuting the humans, an effort led by a US Senator whom he turns into a mutant as well.

While a story about superheroes, X-Men was always about treating people the same, even though they may be different than you, a message of tolerance. The movie manages to communicate that message effectively, while dazzling you with special effects, superb stunts, and above-average acting.

MOVIE: "THE PATRIOT"
GRADE: ***

Review: It would be easy to pass this latest Mel Gibson movie off as 'Braveheart' battles the British, but it's much more than that.

There are similarities between the movies. Gibson once again plays a man who enters a war because he has personally been hurt by one side, but the powerful story and constant shifts in the balance of power keep you guessing as to whether or not Gibson's character, Benjamin Martin, will triumph in his quest for vengeance.

There's a lot of anguish in Martin's face, and you'll know why when you see the atrocities his family must suffer through at the hands of the British. So what if it's not historically accurate - this is a summer movie, and a perfect way to escape a hot summer day.

"ME, MYSELF AND IRENE"
GRADE: ***

Review: Jim Carrey is given a chance to display his mastery of physical comedy, and pulls it off superbly in this new comedy from Bobby and Peter Farrelly, the duo behind the huge hit, 'There's Something About Mary'.

Carrey plays Charlie, a Rhode Island state trooper who develops a split personality when his wife leaves him for a midget Mensa member. His alter-ego, Hank, is tough and belligerent, while Charlie is a pushover. He is assigned to take prisoner Irene, played by Renee Zellweger, to upstate New York

Camp 40 acres benefit in Wilmington August 19

Nestled between Wilmington and Andover on 40 plus sprawling acres is Wilmington's Camp Forty Acres. More of a "facility," according to Richard Berry the camp's director, you won't find counselors, cabins, or flushing toilets.

You will find a place where youth groups of all kinds come to camp and learn how to live in natural surroundings. They also become acquainted with the area's ecological systems learning about such things as vernal pools, salamander eggs and watch frogs hatching. There are also rope ladders, and ropes between trees where, with supervision, youth are presented with a "mini outward bound" scenario.

According to Barry, President of Wilmington Junior Camp, over 1000 kids have camped there in the past three years. Among them, Wilmington's fifth graders who come as art of their "Outdoor Life Program" and Boy Scouts who need such a place to fulfill requirements for their badges.

There's plenty of room so that often more than one group can use the facility at a time. There are, of course, a few safety rules to abide by, particularly where fires may be built. Other than that, each group is on their own. There is a small pond where canoeing skills may be practiced. In the winter it makes a great skating rink.

There is a nominal charge for use of the camp; typically $2 per person. This helps pay the cost of electricity and other up keep. Future plans include flush toilets, further clearing, and the re-furbishing of the camp's chapel, a perfect task for groups needing to do community service.

Again this year, St. Elizabeth's Chapel will donate a portion of its proceeds to Camp Forty Acres. So come on down to the Wilmington Common to KIDS' FUN DAY on August 19th between 10-1, have some fun, and know you will be helping a wonderful cause. Activities will include crafts, face painting, tattoos, T-shirts, grab bags, cookie decoration, fishing pond, bubble table, moon walk and much more. You might also get to say "Hi" to special guest, Pooh! Tickets $1 each or 7/$5.

The camp is open all year round to any youth group. Call Mr. Barry for more information at 694-1027. Be prepared to be greeted with enthusiasm as Mr. Barry is very passionate about these forty acres.

In case of rain, event will be held at the First Baptist Church, directly across from the Common.

About The Towns by Phyllis Nissen

Hartshorne House in Wakefield

"The Colonel James Hartshorne House Association held its annual meeting in the historic Hartshorne House and, for the first time in many years, the Board of Directors and their guests enjoyed a social hour and covered dish supper," notes the Wakefield edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"During the annual meeting following dinner, the Board of Directors elected the new slate of officers for 2000-2001. Ralph Pisaturo was elected president, Patricia Mooney, vice-president, Betsy Sheeran, secretary and treasurer, Andrew McRae.

"Past President McRae thanked the directors for their support and help the last two years and noted that although there are some formidable projects ahead, the Association is alive, well, and financially sound. Longtime Hartshorne House Association Treasurer Noel Bailey retired after 15 years of service in that position.

"McRae presented Noel with a plaque of appreciation, noting Noel's years of service and complimenting him on the detail and thoroughness of his reports. Noel intends to remain a director and of course as a cook for the annual Breakfast!

"During the annual meeting, plans were discussed for several upcoming events, including the festival by the Lake...."

176 Forest St. in Winchester

"In a stunning development, historic 176 Forest St. was demolished," notes the Winchester edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

Home away from home

"This action has left neighbors and other townspeople not only shocked but also angry and asking questions about protection of the town's historic assets.

"The demolition came as a particular surprise, because when the plan to subdivide the house's lot into five housing lots was presented to the Planning Board last year, the owner assured the board that the house was to be moved, not demolished.

"But the property has changed hands twice since then. The assurance about preserving the house did not go along with the sale, nor was it part of the covenant or conditions of approval.

"Allegedly, the current owner, Daniel F. Veo of Belmont, decided the cost of moving the house was too high, pulled a demolition permit and tore it down.

"Thus ended the history of a house that was built about the same time the town was incorporated. An example of the Greek Revival style of architecture, the handsome house was set in the middle of a 1.16-acre lot. Its first owner was Sumner Richardson, a town incorporator and builder of the 1851 Lyceum Hall (located at the corner of Mount Vernon and Main Streets, one of the most important early buildings in Winchester). Later, for almost four decades, it was the home of town engineer James Hind...."

very much alive," notes the "Tewksbury Town Crier."

"The Tewksbury Sidewalk Committee is still pursuing avenues for funding to provide Tewksbury with more sidewalks and with the Board of Selectmen's support, some of the projects may be completed.

"We filed an application with the state in the hope of getting monies to build sidewalks along North and Shawsheen Streets," said Sam Kerkorian, Chairman of the Tewksbury Sidewalk Committee. "Unfortunately, because of the financial difficulties of the state, the Northern Middlesex Council of Government told us that any grant filed with them will be put on hold for at least two years." The Shawsheen and North Street projects, if funded, would have a sidewalk installed from East Street to Route 38 and north from 133 to the corner of East.

"He said that those streets were selected because the Committee felt that the project would be most likely to receive funding. The Committee conducted a survey of the residents along those streets for their support of the project and he said that the results of the surveys were impressive. Of an estimated 200 questionnaires, there was about a 30% return rate, almost all with favorable results.

"The results were encouraging. They gave us some additional enthusiasm, that if we could find funding for sidewalks, we'd have the support of the people," Mr. Kerkorian said. He said that people in those areas are interested in getting sidewalks, primarily because of safety. He said that of those people who didn't want sidewalks, the issue of maintenance was raised.

"Mr. Kerkorian said that about three years ago, the Selectmen agreed to allocate $25,000 per year for the construction of sidewalks through Chapter 90 funds. He said that the average price per linear foot for sidewalks is $50...."

Market Place 2000 new dates

The fifth annual Massachusetts Marketplace Festival will be held Friday, August 25th and Saturday, August 26 at Elm Bank Reservation, Dover. Previously held in June, the event is moving to August so that more fresh locally-grown farm produce can be featured.

Booth space is now available for Bay State companies that produce farm food and horticultural products. The Massachusetts Department of Food and Agriculture and the Massachusetts Horticultural Society sponsor the event.

The Massachusetts Marketplace is an outdoor exhibition of new, unusual and traditional local food, agricultural and horticultural products for both the trade and the public.

For the first time, the public will be invited to purchase tickets to Friday's exclusive preview reception. Non-industry guests will be welcomed between 3 pm and 5:30 pm. Tickets are $25 and can be purchased by calling the Mass. Horticultural Society at 617-536-9280

Music program for kindergarteners

A lifelong love of good music can begin with the kindergarten-age child in a new program by The Treble Chorus of New England at Merrimack College. KinderChorus will meet in twelve one-hour Wednesday sessions of rhythmic games and activities, new and old songs and listening activities to help the 5 and 6 year old learn to sing in tune and begin an appreciation of great music.

The program which begins October 4, will be under the direction of Maire Stultz, founder and artistic director of

Reunions

Classmates are getting together

Middlesex East Publications will publish local "Reunion Notices" on a regular basis. Send information including School name, Date of Reunion, Reunion Location, and name and phone number of contact person to: Middlesex East, P.O. Box 740 Reading, 01867.

NRHS CLASS OF 1981
A meeting to discuss the details of the North Reading High School reunion will be held on Wednesday, August 30, 2000 at Becky (Jones) Greco's house in Billerica.

All classmates are welcome to attend. Please call 978-663-6524 if you are interested in attending and need directions.

The Treble Chorus of New England, now in its 26th season. Mrs. Stultz is the author of Innocent Sounds, an acclaimed book of techniques for training the young voice, recommended in the Journal of the National Association for Music Education.

Scheduled to coordinate with morning and afternoon kindergarten schedules, there will be a 10-11 am session at Messiah Lutheran Church in Lynnfield, and a 10-2 pm session in the Andover area. When kindergarten schedules switch for the second school term, the Kinder Chorus program will also switch with the 10-11 am program in Andover and the 1-2 pm program in Lynnfield.

Tuition for the 12 session program is $150. Some need based scholarships are available. At the end of the year, children will be invited to audition for the Treble Chorus of New England.

"Teach them to observe all things." We are indeed their professions. "God bless them."

I came home from work yesterday and Kathy handed me a letter saying, "here Fatso, this letter is for YOU I thought it was for me and I 'STEAMED' it open by mistake."

The eighth wonder of the world is what on earth keeps the stitches from coming apart in the seams of Kathy's, "Designer Jeans?"

Stan Black and Sonny Pearlman were on labor's negotiating team in a contract dispute. After several weeks management finally sent this memo to Stan and Sonny. "We are happy to inform you that we have 'UPPED' our offer - now 'UP YOURS'!"

I remember when Father Jeremiah Murphy looked out the rectory window early one morning and saw a dead donkey on the lawn. (It was apparently from the circus at the Boston Garden). Fr. Murphy called the police and told Lt. Ryan (who answered the phone) "I guess some teenagers dumped a donkey on my rectory lawn." "Well, Lt. Ryan replied, "Isn't it the duty of the clergy to bury the dead?" Folks, neither Lt. Ryan or the whole police department were a match for the ready wit of Fr. Murphy who said, "I'm calling YOU first to notify the 'Next of KIN'!"

MIDDLESEX EAST SPORTS WEEKLY TRIVIA QUESTION: What team won the first ABA Championship, in the 1967-68 season? Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

READING'S CASSIE BRYANT, a 14-year-old swimmer at Reading Memorial High School, took home the gold medal in the Bay State Games in the 12-14-year-old age group in the 100-meter breaststroke, with a time of 1:19.31. That time was good enough to shatter a five-year-old Bay State record in her age class.

pain in the back of my neck so I went to sick bay. The medic on duty let out a loud laugh saying, "You got STUNG by a Wasp that apparently came aboard with the load of decking." After reading that Chip, Clout Tomkinson said, "I felt a sharp pain but it wasn't in the back of my neck." Well Clout, that will cost you five dollars at the next Kiwanis meeting.

I love ice cream so, I stopped at my favorite Kelly's Kremer and asked the pretty young lady, Diane Stevenson, "what flavors Ice Cream do you have today?" She replied in a hoarse voice, "Vanilla, Chocolate and Strawberry." She apparently had a head cold so I asked, "do you have laryngitis?" "Chippie I just told you, Vanilla, Chocolate and Strawberry!" Dianne's mother Flo Savage is the Manager of Kelly's Kremer.

I remember when I asked Jimmy Serra at the bakery, how much is your "POUND CAKE?" Jimmy smiled and said, "16 ounces of air."

Last Sunday's Sermon, "please give generously to the collection today. Please consider giving 'HALF' of what you declared on your Income Tax form for contributions.

Sign up now for the WOMEN'S NINE-HOLE GOLF LEAGUE to be held at the HILLVIEW COUNTRY CLUB in North Reading. The league will begin on Thursday, July 27 at 5:30 pm. and run for six weeks. Prizes are awarded to each division for first, second and third, low gross, low net, and last place. Scores are calculated using the league point system. A weekly newsletter will be distributed. The cost of the program is $115. Interested participants can register by calling the Reading Recreation Department at 942-9075 or by stopping by Town Hall in Reading at 16 Lowell Street.

WOBURN'S JOE LUCHESE, RYAN TOBIN AND MICHAEL TOBIN, along with BURLINGTON'S JOE KILROY, all helped the Northeast boys soccer team take a gold medal in Boys Scholastic Soccer during the Bay State Games.

Reading Recreation Summer Baseball is now open to non-Reading residents as well as Reading residents.

This is a five-week program for boys and girls who will enter grades K-4 next fall. This program is for players who would like team play as well as instruction. Players will be assigned to teams within their own age groups, and play two games and have one practice each week on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from July 10-August 11.

The purpose of Reading Recreation Baseball is to provide a format for instruction and games in the atmosphere of fun and encouragement. This program has been very popular, as players enjoy the opportunity to hit, field, throw and run at every session.

Players are placed on team by age, as follows:

Pre-Rookie Division: For boys and girls entering

Kindergarten. Basic fundamentals will be stressed and hitting in games will be soft toss from the coaches.

Rookie Division: For boys and girls entering grades 1 or 2. Basic fundamentals will be stressed and hitting in games will be soft toss from the coaches.

Rocket Division: For boys and girls entering grades 3 or 4. Mechanics of fielding, throwing, and baserunning will be emphasized. Hitting in games will be live pitching (coaches pitch).

For more information or to receive an application, call Pete Moscardello at (781) 942-1362.

The Challenger Division of the Wakefield Little League is ready to start another busy season. The league is open to physically and mentally challenged children of all ages who would like to play Little League Baseball, including wheelchair children.

Games are held on Tuesday evenings and Saturday mornings and are open to children of all skill levels and any town. There is a small registration fee which will be waived for any family experiencing financial hardship.

For more information contact coaches STEPHEN CONROY at 944-7820 x. 238 or MAUREEN AND JOHN KOHLER at 245-4647.

ANDOVER CHAMBER MUSIC SERIES

The Andover Chamber Music Series announces 2000-01 concert season programs along with a new performance venue, the Rogers Center for the Arts on the campus of Merrimack College North Andover.

Artistic Director Julia Scolnik said the move will enable more programming opportunities and additional seating, while maintaining a superb presentation of chamber music. Now in its fourth successful season, the ACMS presents a far-ranging repertoire of chamber works both new and traditional performed by internationally-renowned musicians.

The inaugural concert of the new season is set for Saturday, Sept. 23, at 7:30pm, when Andrew Kohji Taylor, violin, Scholnik and the Orchestra of Emmanuel Music will perform

WEDNESDAY/THURSDAY, AUGUST 2, 3, 2000-PAGE S-5

Vivaldi's The Four Seasons.

ACMS plays to families on October 29 with the captivating Pinocchio's Adventures in Funland by Michael Gandolfi, WGBH radio host Richard Knisely will narrate this charming new work. The hour-long presentation, including introduction and audience participation, is perfect for ages 6 and up.

On Sunday, November 19, the 172nd anniversary of Schubert's death, ACMS will present John Harbison's haunting November 19, 1828: Hallucinations in four Episodes.

The third annual Valentine Concert on Saturday, February 10, 2001, is a romantic venture into one of the most poignant love stories in music history - The unique relationship of Robert and Clara Schumann and Johannes Brahms.

The last program of the ACMS season is a celebration of music for wind instruments. Youth, Golden Youth! is the theme for the Sunday, April 8, 2001 concert.

Spotlight on Seniors

Older consumers medicine guide

The use of multiple medicines, a greater prevalence of chronic health conditions and normal body changes caused by aging can increase the likelihood of potential problems with medicines for many seniors, according to experts in the field of aging. With this important health issue in mind, the Council of Family Health (CFH) has updated its educational guide for seniors on safe and responsible medicine use, Medicines and You: A Guide for Older Americans.

Medicines and You, first published by CFH in 1991, provides practical information for older Americans about the use of prescription and nonprescription medicines. The educational guide gives facts about drug interactions, tips for talking to health professionals and ideas on ways seniors can cut medicine costs.

The 15 page guide also features, "My Medicine Record," a chart on which seniors can list the medicines they take and other relevant health information.

"As one gets older, body changes can affect the way medicines are absorbed, distributed, metabolized and excreted," says CFH President Robert G. Donovan. "The more seniors know about their medicines and the more they communicate with their health professionals, the better their chances are for avoiding possible problems with medicines," adds Donovan.

CFH and The National Council of the Aging (NCOA) have also partnered to launch a program on safe medicine use for seniors. The program includes a kit for seniors entitled "Don't Mix and Match Your Medicines" to be used in workshops on safe and responsible medicine use.

The kit features educational materials for seniors, as well as tools to conduct senior center workshops such as a poster and bags in which seniors can carry their medicines to be reviewed by a health professional. CFH's Medicines and You guide is included in the kit.

"Medicines and You and the 'Don't Mix and Match Your Medicines' campaign provide everyday information that can help older Americans effectively manage their medicines and their overall health," says Donovan. He stresses: "This type of information is especially important for older adults since statistics show that two-thirds of adults age 65 and older use one or more medicines each day."

A free copy of Medicines and You: A guide for Older Americans is available by sending a self-addressed, 6x9 stamped envelope to: Council on Family Health, "Medicines and You," 1155 Connecticut Avenue, N.W., Suite 400, Washington, D.C. 20036. "My Medicine Record" and a tip sheet on safe medicine use for older Americans are available on the CFH web site at www.cfhinfo.org.

What is your biological clock?

Women should talk to their doctors about their reproductive health concerns. That's the message behind a new educational campaign by supermodel Rachel Hunter, called "Women In Balance: Health, Sexuality and Hormones."

Hunter in her 30s and a mother of two, joins a medical advisory board of renowned reproductive health experts to draw attention to the reproductive health needs and concerns of women ages 35 to 44.

According to a nationwide survey of 3,200 women, those age 35 to 44 report a greater incidence of troubling health symptoms as their bodies prepare for menopause. Seventy-five percent reported mood swings, 41 percent reported heavy menstruation and 36 percent reported changes in complexion when compared to younger women.

These symptoms can be induced by hormonal fluctuations that occur among women in this age group and are signs that the body is in the midst of a biologic transition, much like those that occur during perimenopause - the phase before menopause when hormone levels fluctuate - and menopause.

Despite the prevalence of their concerns and symptoms, these so-called "transitional women" have lingering misperceptions about birth control pills that may keep them from treating the symptoms, the survey says.

About 36 percent of women ages 35 to 44 mistakenly do not believe that pills with lower levels of estrogen such as Alesse, are just as effective at preventing pregnancy as higher dose pills.

Because of the stresses of balancing their family and career women in this age group often are without the time and tools they need to care for their health and are largely misinformed about the causes, treatment, options and long-term health effects of their symptoms, the survey says.

"Nearly 25 million American women can be characterized as 'transitional' and yet until now have paid little attention to their concerns and issues, particularly in the area of reproductive health," said Dr. Susan Ballagh, a member of the Women In Balance advisory board.

These women represent an unrecognized, unique stage in the reproductive life cycle and they need to understand why their bodies are changing and how to deal with these changes, much like women needed to learn about menopause 10 years ago."

Ballagh and Hunter hope the campaign will dispel myths about hormones and lowest-dose (20 microgram) oral contraceptives and will encourage women to talk to their doctors about their reproductive health concerns.

Hunter said, "Now we finally have information tailored to transitional women's specific concerns, and health needs, so we can be smarter about balancing our families, our careers and health."

from S-2

to face an EPA charge. Along the way they have a few misadventures and fall in love, and he must get her out of some trouble involving a conspiracy and her former employer.

The movie has many gross-out sight gags, as well as some touching moments. If you liked the humor in 'Mary', you'll love this one.

MOVIE: "SHAFT"

GRADE: ***

Review: Samuel L. Jackson reprises the role Richard Roundtree made famous in the 1970s in this slick remake.

The original 'Shaft' featured the first strong, breakout role for a black male actor in mainstream movies, and it has become a cult favorite for action film fans. Jackson picks up where Roundtree left off (the original John Shaft even makes a cameo in this one as Jackson's uncle), with hard-hitting action sequences and witty one-liners that make for perfect summer movie fodder.

Early reports from the set said that Jackson was having a blast making this movie, and it shows onscreen. The only drawback is that its sometimes racially-tinged humor is slanted against whites a bit much.

MOVIE: "MISSION IMPOSSIBLE 2"

GRADE: ***

Review: Though much more action-oriented than the first installment of this popular movie series, this latest Tom Cruise vehicle suffers from some plot holes.

Cruise reprises his role of Ethan Hunt, a member of the Impossible Mission team, who must go after a renegade agent who has stolen a supervirus, along with the antidote, and is now auctioning them both off to the highest bidder.

This installment is directed by action king John Woo, and the stunts are spectacular. The motorcycle sequence, along with the hand-to-hand combat scenes (Cruise did many of his own stunts) are top notch, and almost make up for the fact that you can see what's about to happen next long before it does. You won't have to think too much to understand this one, just sit back and enjoy the ride.

MOVIE: "DINOSAUR"

GRADE: ***

Review: This is another top-notch animated feature from Disney, though it may be a bit too intense for young children.

The story centers around Aladar, a dinosaur that is raised from birth by a family of lemurs. He eventually finds a group of dinosaurs on the move led by a tough talkin' dino, and he must help the group change their ways rather than let the old and weaker ones fall behind and die.

The scenes that may be too intense for young ones involve two carnosaurs that attack and kill other dinosaurs, as well as a deadly meteor shower that takes out almost all the dinosaurs. The scenes are more violent than what is usually seen in a Disney movie, which is why this one generated a 'PG' rating.

A certain five-year-old I know quite well reviewed this one with me, and while she was frightened a bit during the movie, there were no long-term effects (i.e. nightmares).

Agnes Strecker's Dance Studio has intense summer camp

Several accomplished dancers and dance teachers, including former Boston Ballet member Kathy Kozul and New York choreographer Bill DeRicco will serve on the faculty of Agnes Strecker Dance Studio's Summer Intensive Dance Camp.

The one week camp will run August 7-11, with classes from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. each day at Strecker's studio at 172 Beach Street, Revere.

DeRicco is a faculty member and choreographer at the nationally renowned June Claire Dance Center of Long Island, New York. As a master teacher and adjudicator for many schools and dance organizations throughout the world, DeRicco enjoys an enviable reputation as a smooth tap dance stylist who ranks at the top of his field.

A former member of the Boston Ballet and Boston Repertory Ballet, Kozul has danced leading roles in many ballets including Swan Lake, Sleeping Beauty, Nutcracker, Concerto Barocco, and Fall River Legend. She has been on the faculty of the Boston Ballet, Boston Repertory Ballet, Mary Flynn Murphy School of Dance, and Sherry Gold Dance Studios.

Also on the summer intensive camp faculty are Alan Cohen, Rhoda Nunez Donnelly, and Melyssa Misci.

Cohen, who holds a degree in music theory from Boston University and specializes in music technology, has worked with Strecker and her dancers for 22 years. He is adept at programming computers to perform musical functions, and also researches music on the Internet.

Donnelly studied Dominican Meringue and folklore at the Institute of Fine Arts in the Dominican Republic, and has also explored African Caribbean dance and Salsa rhythms. She and her dance partner, Juan Peguero founded the dance company "Amapola" which performs around Boston, and directed a similar company, Cayena, at the University of Massachusetts at Boston.

Misci, who has been dancing for 20 years and teaching for six, has performed in dinner theater and choreographed theater and musical groups. A graduate of Stonehill College with a degree in elementary education and a concentration in fine arts, she teaches kindergarten in Chelsea.

First place in Reading

Lisa M. Litterio, a sophomore at Reading Memorial High School and the Massachusetts representative in the National History Day 2000 Competition at the University of Maryland, won the National First Place Prize in the Labor History Category," notes the Reading edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"Lisa presented an individual slide show documentary on the 'Bread and Roses Strike of 1912: Lawrence, MA - Immigrants Usher in a New Era of Unity, Labor Gains, and Women's Rights.' Lisa's documentary was chosen as one of the top 10 entries in that category enabling her to participate in the final round or the national run-offs. At the Awards Ceremony, Lisa was awarded the Special Labor History Prize, which is the best entry dealing with labor history in both the junior and senior divisions. Cathy Gorn, Executive Director of NHD, presented the Labor history medal to Lisa.

"The National Labor History Prize is sponsored by the AFL-CIO, a voluntary federation of 77 unions representing more than 13 million American working men and women, joined together to help workers improve their lives on the job and in their communities. This group wished to honor the top overall NHD entry that best depicted the history and struggles of American

Medalists in Stoneham

"Tell us, Luke and Felecia, how is the view?" notes the "Stoneham Independent."

"After 18 years, 12 grades, scores of classes, countless exams and endless nights of homework, Stoneham High School seniors Luke Peng and Felecia Cerrato are the ones who get to sit at the top of the academic mountain.

"It is a mountain that they've been scaling since the days of kindergarten, when show-and-tell was the only subject for which they had to prepare. Here's something to make the rest of us feel old: That was back in 1981.

"Now it's the year 2000, and Peng and Cerrato are the recipients of the MacDonald Medals for the first graduating class of the new millennium. As many proud parents before those of Peng and Cerrato know, the MacDonald Medals are Stoneham High School's way of honoring the young man and the young woman who have the highest academic rankings in their graduating class.

"How do the two of them feel about such a scholastic achievement?"

"I'm really happy with myself, but this is not something that I've been striving towards all through high school," confides Cerrato. "I've always just tried to challenge myself and my abilities in school, and I'm glad that I've been able to meet these challenges and achieve something."

"Says Peng, 'Well, honestly, I can't really say that I've achieved it with years of hard work and studying. I mean, I don't think I'm the hardest working student in school, or even the smartest. I'm not saying that I'm lazy or stupid either. I think that I just used what God has blessed me with. I can't really take too much credit for just being who I am. I guess the credit there goes to my parents and God.'"

"Adds Peng, 'I don't think we can or should judge our own self-worth through society's measuring sticks of grades or jobs or money. If a class is hard and the best that you can do is get a C, then you should be satisfied with your work. Receiving a MacDonald Medal is a tremendously flattering honor, but I don't feel as though I should be singled out.'"

"Both Cerrato and Peng, who were born and raised in Stoneham, are preparing to venture well beyond the comfortable boundaries of their Norman Rockwellian home town into that Great Unknown known as college.... In the fall, Cerrato will be attending Boston University, where she hopes to splice her love of Biology with studies possibly related to genetics or pre-med."

"For Peng, the battle over where to attend college this fall was fought between Tufts University...and...Brown University. Which of these two respected institutions did he choose?"

"I chose Brown over Tufts because I didn't want to be with my brother," jokes Peng. Quickly, he adds, "Just kidding...."

Windfall in North Reading

"Voters at Town Meeting opted to increase the school budget by $26,700, rejecting pleas from the Selectmen to hold the line and earmark any 'extra' funds to pay off town debts," notes the "North Reading Transcript."

"After weeks of difficult budget deliberation, the School Committee had been prepared to ask for a $14.71 million budget at Town Meeting, a number that had the support of the Selectmen and Finance Committee.

"But after learning there was approximately $75,000 in extra funds available, the school board asked for part of it to supplement their budget, which they described as extraordinarily tight."

"School Committee chairman Steve Jervey said the extra $26,700 the schools were asking for is a small amount of money in the larger context of the overall town budget."

"But the sum represents 'a critical mass' to the School Committee and could be used to hire an additional teacher, Jervey said."

"The meeting voted 81 to 55 to give the extra funds to the schools, but not without a lengthy debate on budget priorities and promises that revealed a split between the Selectmen on one hand and the School and Finance Committee on the other."

"The school's request for the additional funds had the support of the Finance Committee but not the Selectmen...."

If you'd like to read about your favorite school, student or teacher in "School Notes," please send school newsletters and other relevant information to Phyllis Nissen, "School Notes," Middlesex East Supplement, Box 240, Reading, MA 01867. We welcome student writing.

On Trial From S-12

hallway were beginning to create a tunnel effect, after what I estimated to be the second hour of my stay in the courthouse basement. I've heard the term "stir crazy" used to describe this form of dementia which results from captivity. I even resorted to peering into the reflection in hallway door window, in hopes of catching a glimpse of a clock. No such luck - not that knowing the exact time would provide any real benefit.

There's no words which could accurately convey the utter boredom, which hits you like a freight train. My shackles were starting to become downright painful, due to the weight of the metal which uncomfortably rests on the outer ankle bones. I was also becoming increasingly sleepy from boredom and I even recall the room beginning to spin at one point. Unfortunately, the cement benches (which obviously aren't designed to be the least bit comfortable) are very skinny, so curling up in a semi-comfortable upright fetal position was absolutely out of the question.

Finally, I'm let out of my cage. I pass the men's holding cell and notice the lower portions of the walls are covered with black scuff marks. I suppose that's what happens when you mix combative individuals with a concrete room.

My ankles are beginning to throb from the shackles as I waddle to the elevator. I enter the courtroom and immediately take a seat on the padded chair. In comparison to the cold cement and metal slabs, this chair seems absolutely luxurious.

The aesthetics of the courtroom are also very refreshing, after being surrounded by the dreary, bland decor of the cell. There's blue trim along the ceiling and daylight is streaming through the window blinds, creating an uplifting atmosphere.

"All rise!" cries Court Officer Roger Lewis, as Presiding Justice Marie Jackson-Thompson proceeds to her position at the front of the room. I immediately notice her seemingly stern and professional demeanor, which comes as a sharp contrast to the warm, Maya Angelou-esque woman I had met with just a few weeks before.

The prosecutor in the case, Assistant District Attorney Matthew Buckley, proceeded to present the case. My lengthy "criminal history," including several bouts of probation and a few acts of violence became the gruesome focal points of his presentation.

Attorney Brennan was next to step up on the soap box on my behalf, although my chances of release were designed to be nonexistent. So naturally, Judge Jackson-Thompson ruled in favor of the Prosecution, although she did grant my requests for additional time before the next hearing so my lawyer would be able to efficiently prepare my defense.

Again, the court officer belows and the courtroom jumps to their feet as Judge Jackson-Thompson hurries out the door, her robes billowing in her trail in a very dramatic fashion.

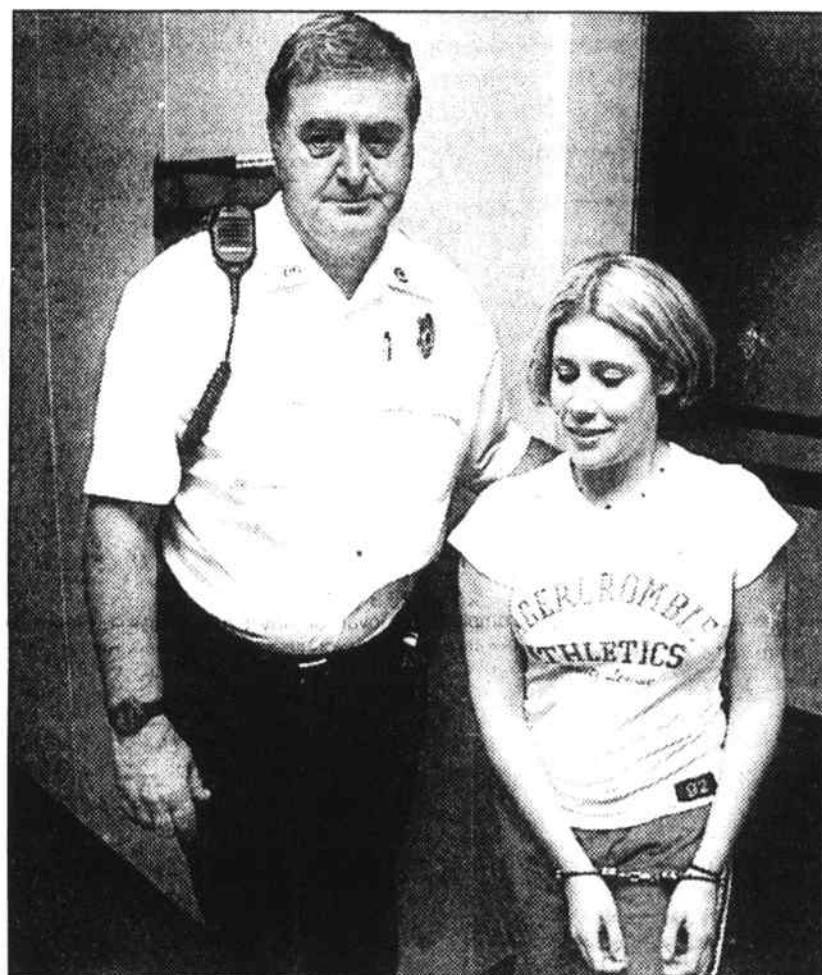

Court officers immediately bring me to my feet and I'm swept away to the detention area, where two new officers from the Sheriff's department are already gathering my bag of "property." Next stop: Billerica House of Corrections.

Homes for exchange students

Foreign high schools students are scheduled to arrive very soon for academic semester and year program homestays, and the sponsoring organization need a few more local host families.

According to Pacific Intercultural Exchange (P.I.E.) Executive Director, John Doty, the students are all between the ages of 15 and 18 years, are English-speaking, have their own spending money, carry accident and health insurance and are anxious to share their cultural experiences with their new American families. P.I.E. currently has programs to match almost every family's needs, ranging in length from a semester to a full academic year, where the students attend local high schools.

P.I.E. area representatives match student with host families by finding common interests and lifestyles through an informal in-home meeting. Prospective host families are able to review student applications and select the perfect match.

Families who host for P.I.E. are also eligible to claim a $50 per month charitable contribution deduction on their itemized tax returns for each month they host a sponsored student.

For the upcoming programs, P.I.E. has students from Spain, Germany, Latvia, the former Soviet Union, Venezuela, Argentina, Brazil, Mexico, Mongolia, Italy, Paraguay, Australia, Sweden, Yugoslavia, China, Belgium, Vietnam and many other countries.

Families interested in learning more about student exchange or arranging for a meeting with a community representative may call P.I.E., toll-free, at 1-800-631-1818.

Looking for a change? New to the job market?

Opportunity starts with Alpha.

Alpha Industries designs and manufactures components for wireless telephones, personal communications services, global positioning systems, and specialized equipment for the wireless markets. At Alpha we promote a cooperative, supportive environment where you are empowered to achieve your best. We're a cutting edge, growing company with a great team and great team spirit.

Process Engineer

In this position you will be responsible for sustaining and continuous improvement activities in backside processing and scribe areas of GaAs and Silicon Fabrication. You will be the primary interface between fab and assembly houses with regards to tracing root causes of visual defect issues that reduce final yields. You will also interface with offshore scribe facilities to help with technical issues and ensure comparable quality with internally scribed material. BS/MS in Engineering/Materials and 3-5 years prior experience in backside processing a plus. Various shifts available with a 15% to 27% differential paid depending on shift worked.

Shift Wafer Fab Supervisor

Our high volume production silicon fab is currently looking for a shift supervisor to be responsible for the Backside, Plating and Test operations. Areas of responsibility will be supervising a team of 12-14 Associates, monitoring daily shift throughput, scrap and shipments, hiring and training of new associates, monitoring of process controls, recommending measures to improve production methods, equipment performance and quality of product, analyzing and resolving work problems. Strong team building skills are helpful in promoting cross shift team efforts and assist/mentor associates in solving work problems. Bachelor's degree from a four-year college or 3-5 years related experience; or equivalent combination of education and experience.

Shipper

Our high volume fast paced materials group is looking for a shipper to prepare product for shipment. In this role you will be required to pack and document product for shipment to various customers both Domestic and International. Prepare records of the goods shipped, posting weight and shipping charges, and keep accurate shipping files. Contact carriers to arrange or pick-up shipments. Previous knowledge and experience working with UPS, FedEx along with general knowledge of computers are helpful in this position. Some heavy lifting required.

Shift Engineering Assistants

We have an immediate need for shift support engineering assistants. In this role you would be supporting a high volume test function. Complete knowledge and understanding of the operation of an HP 8753 network analyzer, the ability to troubleshoot automatic and manual RF and DC testing problems, work with Windows based automatic test stations, understanding of insertion loss, isolation, USWR, RF measurements testing and calibration. AS degree in electronics or equivalent in technical school with 3-5 years RF troubleshooting and set up and debugging essential. 15% to 27% shift differential paid depending on shift worked.

Alpha Industries offers competitive salaries, comprehensive benefits, tuition reimbursement, and these on-site conveniences: ATM service, photo development, concierge service, dry cleaning pick-up, and stock options. Please send resume to: Pam Solomon, Alpha Industries, Inc., 20 Sylvan Road, Woburn, MA 01801. Fax: (617) 824-4574. E-mail: psolomon@alphaind.com. An equal opportunity employer.

MBE Process Technician

In this position you will be responsible for running the MBE machines on a production schedule. Perform daily test and measurements of epitaxial wafers. Enter data into SPC charts and do a daily inventory check. Observe the safety and process procedures set within the group. Good communication skills and attention to detail are also keys to success in this position. Various shifts available supporting a 7x24 operation. 15% to 27% differential paid depending on shift worked.

Repair/Maintenance Processing Equipment Technicians

Perform diversified and complex repair and maintenance duties on water fabrication processing equipment. 1-2 years experience with Photolithography, Sputter systems, Coaters along with other types of process equipment helpful. Additional duties will include but are not limited to the dismantling, adjustment, rebuilding and modification of various water fabrication equipment. The ability to use various diagnostic equipment to perform checks and adjustments to maintain the overall performance of the equipment is also required. Various shifts are available including Weekend days and nights.

Wafer Fab Operators

Immediate openings for Production Wafer Fabrication Associates in the following areas: Metals, Wet Processing Backside, Test, Photo and Plating. These positions work a 7/24 continuous shift schedule which consists of 4 days on 3 days off from 6:00 a.m. to 6:15 p.m. and nights from 6:00 p.m. to 6:15 a.m. Clean room environment experience a plus. Perform various tasks required for manufacturing Silicon/GaAs wafers and devices in a class 100 clean room. Responsibilities include operating and monitoring process tools, collecting and entering data, monitoring SPC data, and performing some routine tasks required for daily upkeep of process tools. High School degree required but a two-year degree in a technical discipline is highly desirable. Previous experience in semiconductor processing also desirable but not required.

From S-1

lected by Officer Schipiletti and I'm brought back down the sal-sport and loaded into the cruiser.

I've found that a female presence can be a really calming influence. A lot of times the women prisoners are very scared and distraught. I'll talk to them like a person and you can just watch them starting to relax," explains Matron Bulman who has accompanied me in the backseat. There's a definite truth to the Matron's observation, as I too found myself becoming less tense as a result of her mere presence.

I have come to the realization that it's the unnatural aspects of this entire process which result in a great deal of mental uneasiness. Being entirely surrounded by men, physically restrained, or confined to a cement box are not what one would consider "natural." I found the breaks in these foreign practices generally resulted in a calming effect.

"What I really hate is riding in the back of these cruisers. If something were to happen, we would be helpless back here. The windows and doors don't work from the inside," added Matron Bulman.

Now, this was not a potential danger which I had taken into consideration until that moment. Just another reminder that while I still have my rights, I have absolutely no power. And without that power which freedom allows, my rights afforded to all free Americans weren't really too useful at that point in time.

As we're making our final approach to the courthouse, a detail officer directing traffic gives a "thumbs-up" to Officer Schipiletti as we drive by. I'm informed that this common practice translates into praise for "catching another one." Once again, I'm reminded that I bear more similarities to a hunted animal, rather than a normal civilian.

The cruiser stops in front of a back entrance to the courthouse and the three of us make our way to the granite steps, where I sit as we wait for the go-ahead to proceed inside. Once again, I'm the target of imploring stares from those driving by.

The door is finally opened and I'm escorted down a flight of stairs to another booking room, where I'm questioned by detention area Court Officer Kim Berg.

After answering a slew of questions, I'm shackled and placed in another holding cell. This cell is larger than the last and considerably more run down. It also consists of a slim concrete bench and a stainless steel toilet.

Reading the graffiti and carvings on the cell wall provided me with a brief source of amusement, also making me wonder how these vandals smuggled or obtained tools to create these masterpieces.

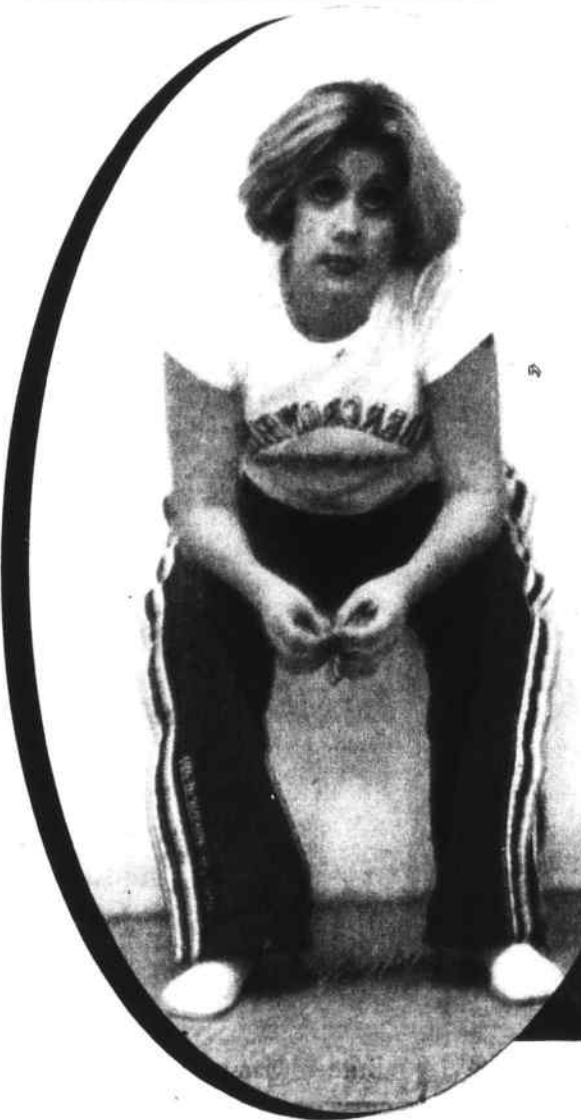

After a few minutes I get my first visitor as Assistant Chief Probation Officer Jim Umile approaches the cell door and gathers the necessary information for his pile of paperwork. Next, I meet my court appointed lawyer, Attorney Paul C. Brennan who also fires away with dozens of questions regarding my criminal history, education level, and living situation.

I'm eventually left in solitude and I take a seat on the cold concrete and attempt to re-adjust my shackles, which are quickly beginning to scrape

PAULA SUFFREDINI IS A CERTIFIED BUYER

Paula Suffredini was recently certified by the RealNet Learning Services of McLean, Virginia as a CBR-Certified Buyer Representative.

Mrs. Suffredini is a Sales Agent with Carlson GMAC Real Estate in Woburn and is now trained in the professional presentation of home purchases.

Paula Suffredini

Buyer Representation is rapidly changing the face of real estate propelled by knowledgeable home purchasers, legislative action, and consumer market in recent years and is now available nationwide. Agents who have been certified have participated in an intensive, in-depth training program.

A Buyer Representative is a cooperating agent who legally represents the real estate buyer. They generally do so under an exclusive buyer representation agreement, much like a traditional real estate broker represents the seller under an exclusive right to sell listing agreement.

A Buyer Representative limits the seller's liability, since the buyer's own agent becomes responsible to the buyer rather than the seller's agent. In addition, a Buyer Representative is a highly professional agent representing qualified and highly motivated purchasers.

ARMED VAULT WORKERS

Our frontier days are gone, but our values remain.
So if you stand tall and measure up, you can be a top hand with us!

As a legendary name, an honored tradition, and rapidly growing industry leader in armored transportation,
Loomis, Fargo is moving into new territory.

You'll check identifying number/seals on deposit bags and/or change shipments against their accompanying receipts; count items, record amounts/serial numbers, sign/date receipts and manifests; load/unload wagons/flat bed cars/buggies with bags/boxes weighing up to 50 pounds each; sort individual cargo items by route; communicate with workers and customers via telephone

Position requires pushing/pulling wagons, carts, etc., weighing up to several hundred pounds; repetitious lifting of items weighing an average 50 pounds, as well as maintaining a stooped/squatting position for several minutes to perform sorting functions; standing on concrete floors for about 80% of your shift. Basic math skills and ability to sign/record numbers essential. Must have valid driver's license, Massachusetts handgun permit eligibility and pass background check which includes: MVR, credit history, criminal record, past employment, education and military service. Will need to be at least 21 years old, read/speak English well enough to converse with people, and respond to official inquiries.

We provide a starting salary of $10.00 per hour, paid training, competitive salaries, full benefits, including 401(k), paid vacations/holidays and free uniforms.

TO JOIN OUR TEAM, CALL TOLL-FREE, 800-550-1500.
